Threatened Closing of Schools by Dec. 1 Fades

BANK AGREES TO BUY NEW STATE NOTES

$51,000 Certification Under Foundation Program Due by End of Month.

CONSIDERS PAPER LEGAL

Money From Notes to Carry City School System Into New Year.

Mansfield today had apparently escaped the feared necessity of closing its schools Dec. 1 for lack of funds.

E. N. Dietrich, state director of education, announced today that the city school system was entitled to a certification of $51,079 and that authority to borrow that amount would be forwarded to the Mansfield school board by Dec. 1. He admitted that the cash would not be available for schools at that time and added that whether schools could obtain cash on the certification would depend on whether local banks would honor the certification.

Ready to Honor Notes.

Charles F. Ackerman, president of the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank, whose institution has accepted the major part of school notes in the past, said today:

"We consider that certification legal, and we'll take the notes and give them the cash."

Dr. John H. Bristor, clerk of the Mansfield school board, said the city schools have enough money to operate until after Dec. 1 and with approval of the $51,000 authorization to borrow, they will have funds to carry them over into the new year when school officials hope legislative action will provide new sources of funds.

Rural Schools Get $55,000.

Under the certification promised by Dietrich, Richland county's rural schools will get $55,166.

Mansfield schools already have a $51,000 debt in notes authorized against the distribution of state school foundation funds in September, but Dietrich declined to say when the school board would receive cash to pay off that debt, or how much it will receive.

He indicated, however, that the next distribution of cash would be "very small" since the foundation faces a deficit of $12,000,000 to $13,000,000 on the basis of probable revenue.

A decline in sales tax revenue which provides the major part of the foundation program's financing has forced the state education department to delay its cash allocations to local school districts for nearly two years.

Minnesota Farmer Sloshes In Mud to Win Husking Title

DELL RAPIDS, S. D.—(INS)—For the second straight year a young Minnesota farmer took the national cornhusking crown back to his native state today.

Sloshing to the championship in field of sticky mud, Ted Balko of Redwood county, Minn., captured the title with 22.4 bushels in the required eighty minutes.

The mark was mediocre as far as the national event goes, but experts marveled that he did even that well under the ground conditions. The record is 41.5 bushels.

A raw wind and rain-filled skies beside the mud under foot failed, however, to dampen the high spirits of the 150,000 spectators.

Second to Balko was the pre-event favorite, Irving Bauman of Woodford county, Ill., who had slammed 32.5 bushels into the bangboards at the state competition earlier in the week. He husked 21.74 bushels yesterday.

Robert Hart of Darke county, Ohio, and Howard Green, Logan county, Ohio, the state's two entrants, finished in the middle of the group. Green had 18.39 bushels and Hart, 16.18.

SLICK OR CROOK?

The Democratic candidate is Fred Slick and his Republican opponent is Roy Crook.

400 Highway Workers Join Sawyer Camp

Pledge Allegiance to Dem Nominee at Surprise Meeting Here.

Staging a surprise meeting at Democratic headquarters here last night, more than 400 employes of division No. 3 of the state highway department swung their support solidly behind Charles Sawyer, Democratic gubernatorial nominee.

The rally was not advertised and came as a surprise to persons outside the department.

Although the meeting came only two days after I. R. Ault, former division head, went to Columbus to assume a new post, having been promoted by Governor Martin L. Davey, Parrott, assistant division engineer, denied there was any significance to be attached to the two events.

'Expression of Loyalty.'

Parrott said the meeting was just "an expression of our loyalty to the Democratic party," and denied that the meeting would not have been held if Ault, a strong Davey supporter, had remained. (Davey has been charged with ordering state employes not to back Sawyer). Parrott said the meeting had been arranged before Ault left and that the former chief of the division knew "all about it."

Parrott told the group last night that it was "high time the soft pedaling" was over and that they should forget any allegiance to Davey and "support the Democratic ticket" like good Democrats.

He said that the highway department employes had endorsed Sawyer, the party's candidate for governor, following the primary and that they still were "solidly behind that pledge."

The group was addressed by A. L. Palmer, former member of the Ohio planning commission, who was removed from his office by Gov. Davey just previous to the primary election.

Palmer urged the highway workers to "present a solid front for Sawyer," and the entire ticket.

The meeting was also attended by Democratic executive committee chairman from division No. 3, which includes Richland, Ashland, Crawford, Erie, Huron, Lorain, Medina and Wayne counties.

CRASH KILLS 14

British Plane Falls in Field Soon After Taking Off.

ST. HELIAR, Island of Jersey—(AP)—Fourteen persons were killed today in one of Britain's worst airplane disasters when a fully-loaded passenger airliner crashed in a field just after taking off for Southampton, England.

The victims were nine men, four women and one child, and included the pilot, Capt. A. G. M. Cary, the wireless operator; 11 passengers and a man working in the field where the plane crashed.

The plane was on a regular run between Jersey, in the English channel, and Southampton.

The crash occurred shortly after the take-off from Jersey airport, which is several miles from St. Helier. The plane was seen to circle several times in the channel island fog before falling into the field about 600 yards from the take-off.

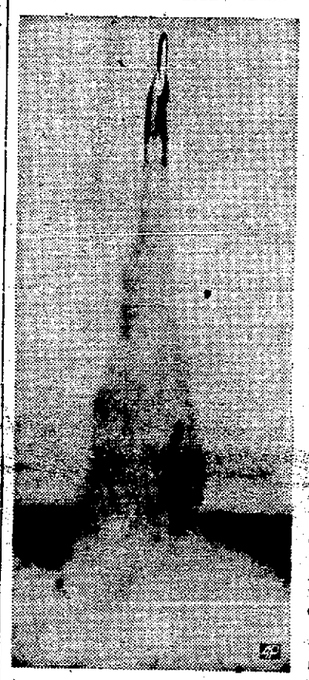
DIES AT MT. VERNON

MT. VERNON—(AP)—C. Frederick Lytle, 40, of Newark, Ohio Fuel Gas company agent, died last night of automobile accident injuries suffered a week ago.

Flight to Mars?—In 1,000 Years!

THE PLANET MARS
The lines are "canals." The deep shadows may be vegetation. The white cap on one pole may be snow. This is a drawing of what some astronomers see through the telescope: others say the "canals" aren't visible.

EXPERIMENTAL ROCKET
This earthly rocket attains speeds of 700 miles per hour. It is designed for "weather soundings" of the atmosphere in the experiments of an American group. The boys here were setting it up for a trial flight.



This rocket, tested in Germany as a mail carrier, went a mile in a few seconds.

(EDITOR'S NOTE—A recent radio dramatization of a book about war between Earth and Mars sent a wave of hysteria across the country. In the play, Martians arrived in space ships, spread death and destruction by strange, frightful weapons. Science Editor Howard W. Blakeslee of the Associated Press here discusses the possibility of life on Mars and of communication between the two planets.)

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(AP Science Editor)

NEW YORK—In 60 years since the so-called "canals" were discovered on Mars, science has not been able to rule out absolutely the possibility of living beings on the red planet.

Two kinds of beings are still possible there.

One is the "life as we know it" sort, meaning oxygen breathers like men. Astronomers have definitely established that Mars has only about one-thousandth the oxygen in its air that is present on earth. No human could live there without an oxygen helmet.

Mars Shy on Oxygen.

But, as pointed out by Dr. Henry Norris Russell of Princeton university, one of the world's great astronomers, persons on Mars, of no greater intelligence than man, could have learned to extract oxygen to use for breathing purposes. A long time ago Mars is presumed to have had more abundant oxygen.

The other sort of person on Mars would be "anerobic," that is, not needing oxygen. Among bacteria and a few other low forms of life on earth, there are "anerobes." They live without oxygen. So if evolution is plausible, life might develop on Mars with little need for oxygen.

Mars' temperature, around the equator, in summer is about 50 degrees Fahrenheit. This has been accurately measured by astronomers. Clouds have been seen in telescopes. They seem to stand about 15 miles above the surface. They may be huge dust storms.

A few "canals" are two thousand miles or more long, almost straight lines. They stretch across the planet's face at odd angles. Short feeders, like telephone crosstrees, enter them at some places.

Looks Like Vegetation.

Some areas on Mars turn distinctly gray-green in summer. Vegetation is the best guess as to the cause of this color change.

If this is vegetation, it probably would be of a lowly, desert variety.

Sawyer Predicts Wide Margin; Bricker Calls Deal Charge 'Lie'

(By Associated Press)

DAYTON—Praised by former Gov. James M. Cox as a "man of high purpose, intellectual honesty and courage," Charles Sawyer expressed high confidence here last night of his election as governor over John W. Bricker, Republican.

"I feel better every day as the campaign goes on," the Democratic candidate said, predicting he would carry Cuyahoga county by 80,000 to 120,000 votes.

He asserted that Bricker made "the greatest of political blunders when he said he'd give me Cuyahoga county." In an earlier speech in Springfield, Sawyer said:

Morrow County Fund Crisis Stalls Road Activities.

MT. GILEAD—With the dismissal of 45 workmen and office personnel, K. B. Graham, county engineer, and his clerk, Miss Thelma Summers, were the only ones who had jobs in the Morrow county road department today.

Morrow commissioners yesterday ordered the dismissal of the workmen and office employes because of lack of funds. The order brought all road work to a standstill. Equipment has been placed into storage.

Commissioners said that under present financial crisis no further road work will be carried on by the county until at least Jan. 1 when new appropriations are made.

"As I told you in the primary about the middlemen collecting in Columbus from business men," Bricker said at a series of party rallies. "I told you about the gang collecting a dollar a case on liquor. I told you about men who were deciding where roads should go to serve a selfish interest.

COLUMBIA GAS CALLED TRUST IN U. S. SUIT

Government Charges Company Engaged in Conspiracy to Crush Competitors.

'INVESTORS TOOK LOSS'

Holding Company, Controlling Mansfield Utility, Called Unfair Monopoly.

The giant Columbia Gas and Electric company, controlling the Ohio Fuel Gas company, which serves Mansfield, today was accused by the federal government of unfairly monopolizing commerce in natural gas over a large area, including the states of Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky and West Virginia, dispatches from Washington said today.

In a suit filed in the federal district court at Wilmington, Del., the justice department complained that the corporation, its officers and directors, and the Warfield Natural Gas company, a subsidiary, had engaged in a conspiracy to restrain trade since 1930.

Says Competitor Crushed.

The government alleged that Columbia crushed a competing gas system—The American Fuel and Power company, and its principal subsidiaries, the Inland Gas corporation and the Kentucky Fuel Gas corporation—by purchasing substantial blocks of the latter's securities and then throwing the system into receivership.

After gaining stock control of American, Columbia forced the resignation of all the officers of that company as well as those of the subsidiaries. Columbia then arranged with creditors of Inland Gas and Kentucky Fuel to institute receivership proceedings and this resulted in heavy losses to thousands of investors, the department said.

Large Ohio Patronage.

Columbia has been operating in hundreds of towns and communities since 1926, selling and distributing natural gas, mixed and artificial gas. In Ohio, it has a particularly large number of customers.

In 1930, the American system proposed to build a natural gas pipe line to Detroit, passing through the thickly populated Ohio area. According to the department, when Columbia saw itself threatened with this competition it proceeded to break up its rival's organization.

Ohio Fuel Gas company, however, was not mentioned in the suit.

PRESS CHARGES

'Kidnap Syndicate' to Face Murder Count, State Says.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The district attorney's office today announced murder charges would be pressed against four alleged members of a "kidnap syndicate" accused of slaying Arthur Fried, White Plains business man, and kidnaping two Brooklyn residents who were released after ransom payments.

At the same time, officials announced that part of a human jawbone with several teeth still intact had been found by police digging in the basement of Ukrainian hall, an east side social establishment where one of the kidnapers said Fried's body was cremated in a furnace.

A quantity of bones unearthed yesterday were found to be those of animals.

OPENS INQUIRY IN SHIP BLAST

U. S. Board to Seek Proof of 'Sabotage' in Explosion on Nazi Liner.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Commerce Roper today named a special board of inquiry to investigate the explosion which wrecked the Hamburg-American steamship Vancouver in the Oakland, Cal., estuary, and endangered the lives of 17 passengers and a crew of 60.

The 8,269-ton vessel, steaming along the Oakland-Alameda estuary to San Francisco before sailing for Bremen, was run into shallow water and settled upright in the mud. Had the blast occurred a few minutes later, the Vancouver would have been over deep water of San Francisco bay and possibly would have sunk.

Although none would comment on possibility of sabotage, Capt. W. Moessinger, master, said "it looks suspicious." District Attorney Earl Warren said "it's a very ticklish situation."

Warren expected that the vessel would be refloated, and that experts would then determine the source of the blast.

The first diver who descended and examined the hull said that plates had been driven inward, indicating force from the outside.

Four men were injured, but none seriously. As water poured into the ship, crippling her and putting her pumps out of order, the injured were helped to the deck where passengers had been knocked off their feet.

Salvage crews built a cofferdam about the hole, which was seven feet below the water line. Tugs drew alongside and began pumping water out of the hull to refloat the Vancouver.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation entered the case because the ship flew a foreign flag.

WASHINGTON—A well-known Stalinist—in the pay of both the Communist party and the CIO—directed the Warren, O., "little steel" strike, usurped authority of police, stopped the U. S. mails and gave orders to dynamite squads, it was testified today before the Dies committee investigating un-American activities.

Gus Hall, also known as Arva Halberg, who was a candidate for governor on the Communist ticket in Ohio until the candidates were withdrawn, was named as the Stalinist and boss of the strike at the Republic Steel company plant.

The witness was Edgar Herzog of Elyria, O., an "undercover" member of the Communist party for several years and chairman of the Ohio American Legion un-American activities committee.

Five Developments.

As Herzog unfolded "the inside story" of communism in Ohio for the committee, there were five major developments in the investigation which has created a furious controversy between the committee and the administration. President Roosevelt himself has formally attacked the committee and its motives.

The developments were:

1. Communist strength in Ohio is centered in the industrial cities, including Cleveland, Toledo, Akron, Niles, Warren, Youngstown and Cincinnati, Herzog informed the committee.

2. Testimony was offered by Herzog that the Communist party operates a "school" for teachers in the public schools of Ohio who seek to spread Marxian doctrines. A "Communist" primer was distributed to be passed on to first and second grade pupils, he charged.

3. Chairman Dies (D.) Texas, of the committee, said he intended to subpoena a representative list of 400 to 500 government employes who, he said, are members of or associated with "Communist front" organizations. Some of these employes, Dies revealed, hold "key positions" in the government.

Norman Hall, coal miner who has been working with a dozen others to free the pet of Spletzer community, said that additional dynamite had been obtained and that "if Sport is where we think he is, we are only five feet away from him."

When the dynamite supply was exhausted yesterday, the rescue workers returned to the use of picks and shovels.

Election's of Vital Interest To Them—Their Lives at Stake

There are 11 persons in Richland county who are vitally interested in the outcome of next Tuesday's election — and they aren't politicians.

They are the tuberculosis patients who have been brought home from sanitariums recently because county funds for their care were entirely depleted. Their chances to live depend upon the half-mill levy which comes before voters of the county Tuesday.

If it passes, even Jimmy knows that he will go back to the sanitarium for further treatment and care. If it doesn't pass he won't go back, and so he's as eager as anyone in Mansfield to know the story the ballots will tell Tuesday night, even though he doesn't know a candidate from a candy bar.

Jimmy is eight years old and has red hair. He's just the right age for tuberculosis to reach out and grasp him in its bony hand. He had been in a sanitarium for four months when Richland county commissioners ran out of money appropriated for the care of tuberculosis victims, and he was getting along splendidly.

Now he is at home where a

City Goes To Church Sunday, Joins In 'Religious Recovery'

Mansfield will put on its best bib and tucker, forget its bridge parties, turn off the radio and go to church Sunday as its "religious recovery" movement gets under way.

Opening the "Go To Church Sunday" move, which is nation-wide, Mansfield churches will have special services Sunday morning and some Sunday evening.

Plans for Go-To-Church Sunday were mapped several weeks ago when Mansfield churchmen and civic leaders decided to take part in the movement which was launched nationally by representative Protestants, Catholics and Jews.

Judge Charles H. Huston is chairman of the committee; Arthur Courtney is vice chairman, while other officers and members of the committee are Rev. Chester Kern, secretary-treasurer; Rev. Herbert C. Garnes and Rev. Hayes M. Braker.

Judge Huston pointed out today that Mansfield is a "city of churches," and that "Mansfield would lose those qualities that make a community great were it not for its churches which year in and year out raise their voices against the accumulated despair and defeat of men's spirits and the unwholesome social conditions that

Ashland to Be at Full Strength for Tyger Invasion

Glass' Return Encourages A's

Mansfield Expected to Rely on Ground Attack In Attempt to Break Three-Game Losing Streak.

By Oscar Ruhl, News-Journal Sports Editor.

THIS year's Mansfield high school football team has been forced to absorb a lot of punishment for whippings their predecessors administered.

Shelby squared matters for recent whippings by defeating this fall's edition of the Tygers, 26 to 13, and Akron Kenmore's Cardinals won their first game in history from a Mansfield eleven by a 33 to 6 count last week.

This week Ashland looms in the foreground, and the A's are also looking forward to Saturday's game as a golden opportunity to get a little Tyger meat.

Last Loss in 1934.

Saturday's revival of the oldest rivalry on the Mansfield schedule is billed for the Ashland play lot where Coach John Longley's men won their last game from the Tygers in 1934 by a 7 to 6 score.

The Mansfield-Ashland series originated in 1900, and the Tygers have won 16 of the 24 games. Only two of their meetings ended in deadlocks.

In the more recent games between the two old rivals, Mansfield has been heavily favored, and usually made the experts look good by turning in victories.

This year their victory prospects are not so encouraging. Ashland is also experiencing a poor season, but the A's are improving, while the Tygers are showing no signs of snapping out of their slump.

Coach Russ Murphy figures the Tygers will have to play better ball than they have at any time since the Hammond, Ind., game to win Saturday.

Murphy drilled the Tygers hard this week as he prepared them for a winning ball game, but the results of his efforts cannot be told until Saturday.

According to word from Ashland, the A's will be at their full strength for the first time this year Saturday.

Injuries have caused Coach Longley considerable grief this season, and in no game has he been able to place a team of full strength on the field.

Joe Glass, who was on the casualty list when the A's toppled Mt. Vernon, 12 to 6, last week, will be ready to take over his tackle duties again Saturday, Longley reports.

The return of Glass and the other hospitalized gridmen and the psychological edge that it usually holds in this rivalry definitely encourages Ashland's victory hopes.

Since their passing game has caused them much embarrassment, the Tygers are likely to concentrate their attack on the ground Saturday.

This was indicated this week when Murphy and his aids spent virtually all of their time to improving the overland game. Special instructions were given to ball handling as they attempted to remedy the fumbling epidemic that has hit the team.

Rely on Running, Too.

Ashland's chief offensive threat is also in a running game, with Fritzinger and Burns, who also does most of the passing, leading the attack, and Saturday's game may develop into an old-fashioned bucking and running game affair with the lines playing the most important part.

Mansfield's passing game has been effective throughout the season, but pass interceptions have proven costly in recent games.

Murphy's lineup is indefinite, but he indicated today that it will probably remain unchanged from last week when only three seniors started.

A preliminary game between the reserve teams of the two schools is scheduled at 12:45 p. m.

HARRINGTON GATES

AMHERST, N. H.—(INS)—Harrington Kenneth "Heavenly" Gates, the football quarterback who resigned from college to escape the "Godlessness" of the gridiron for the simple life at the Noan's Ark farm of the Holy Grost and Us society, returned to Dartmouth college today.

Apparently Gates has decided to remain in college until he graduates in June, but he will play no more football.

The sudden decision of the football hero to leave the religious retreat and return to Dartmouth was made after a long conference with former Attorney General Ralph W. Davis, law partner of Judge John R. McLane, Dartmouth college trustee.

Mt. Union-Kenyon Game Off; Findlay Plays Tonight.

(By Associated Press)

Youngstown college scored a 20-to-14 football victory over Davis-Elkins university last night, a triumph made possible through a power drive staged in the final period.

The Ohio eleven entered the last frame with a 14-7 advantage, but the West Virginians knotted the count on a pass from Tebor to Hudson. Then Perantoni, Penguins' halfback, returned the kickoff to Youngstown's 40—and from there on it was a steamroller march. Perantoni plunged for the deciding touchdown.

The Findlay college-Capital university contest scheduled for tomorrow will be played tonight. Mt. Union college has announced that its game with Kenyon, originally scheduled for tomorrow, has been cancelled at Kenyon's request.

Bellville Wallops Danville

Sheriff Scores 29 Points as Blue Jays Win No. 7 by 71 to 0 Score.

DANVILLE — Coach Royd Hodge's sensational Bellville high schol gridsters made ready for their tussle with Madison high next week by rolling to an easy 71 to 0 victory over Danville here Thursday.

It was the greatest scoring exhibition ever staged by a team on the Danville gridiron.

Score in Every Period.

The Blue Jays scored two or more touchdowns in every period as they hung up their seventh straight victory. Bellville, which is undefeated, scored 19 points in the first period, 21 in the second, 12 in the third and 19 in the fourth.

Thursday was the first time in several weeks that the Bellville club was at its full strength. Hamilton returned to the lineup and showed no effects of his illness as he scored twice.

Sheriff was the leading touchdown maker for the Blue Jays with four. He alone accounted for 29 points, with five placement kicks bolstering his total. Balliett was right behind with three touchdowns. Martin and Palm tallied the other touchdowns.

The game was barely under way when Hamilton tallied the first score from the five on a reverse. A nine-yard forward pass from Palm to Martin accounted for the second score. The third first period score was run across by Balliett from the one.

Palm bucked over from the one for the first score in the second period. A 44-yard run by Sheriff on a reverse added the second, and the third was hung up by Balliett on a plunge from the three.

Jays Slacken Pace.

With many substitutes in the lineup, the Blue Jays slackened their pace in the third chapter, but scored twice. Balliett swept from the 10 for one and Hamilton, on a spinner, tallied the other from the 10.

The outplayed and weary Danvillians saw the visitors go across three more times in the final quarter. Sheriff scored all three of these scores, two on bucks and the other on a pass from Palm.

Butler Smothers Fredericktown Team, 69-0

Kenny Miller Scores Five Times as Bulldogs Celebrate Homecoming With Second Victory.

By CHARLES MARTIN

AN INSPIRED Butler high school grid combine dropped the curtain on its 1938 season in a blaze of glory at Butler yesterday before a homecoming crowd estimated at 450.

Displaying a spectacular running and passing attack, Coach Bob Burgett's well-drilled machine ran up its largest score of the year by smothering a weak Fredericktown outfit, 69 to 0, for its second triumph of the season.

Led by little Kenny Miller, who escorted the pigskin over the enemy goal on five occasions, Butler moved overland and through the air with ease as it smashed across at least one touchdown in each period.

Never Threaten.

While the Bulldogs were enjoying a field meet, Fredericktown found it impossible to unleash an attack that would consistently gain ground and as a result never moved inside the Butler 30.

Assisting Miller in piling up the one-sided score were Wendell Ward, Marion Laribee and Robert Boales. Ward and Laribee contributed two markers and Boales added the other.

Butler tallied 13 points in the opening frame, 14 in the second, seven in the third and then went wild to collect 35 in the final quarter.

The Bulldogs' fully demonstrated their powerful attack in the first stanza when they took the opening kick off and drove 88 yards for the initial touchdown.

Miller, who along with nine other seniors, played their last game for Butler, sparked the attack by reeling off all the yardage. In two plays he raced 45, and then broke loose on a sweep for 43 yards and the score.

Before the bewildered Freddies could organize themselves, Ward, on a reverse, added the second marker from the 35. Ward opened the second frame by returning a punt 80 yards, but a penalty nullified the sprint.

But Butler was not to be denied, and shortly after Miller intercepted a desperate Fredericktown forward pass and galloped 35 yards into pay dirt. He added his third touchdown from the 11 on a sweep a little later.

Laribee plunged over from the three in the third for the fifth score, and the only one in that chapter.

Touchdowns followed in rapid order in the last quarter. Ward accounted for the first on a sweep from the five. Boales added another on an end around from the 10-yard stripe. Ward rifled a 40-pass to Miller, who trotted over from the 10. Then Miller returned a punt 45 yards for his fifth touchdown. Laribee added the final score, racing around end on a 20-yard gallop.

Penalty Costs Score.

A penalty ruined another score after Miller had heaved a pass to Ward in the end zone.

The Bulldogs added nine extra points, missing the first one when Laribee failed to smash through the line on a plunge. Butler chalked up 10 first downs to four. Burgett used every man on the squad.

Homecoming ceremonies preceding the game were the first ever held at Butler. Pretty Roma McAuley, homecoming queen, and her four attendants, Marjorie Heininger, Gwen Hollar, Maxine Dalbey and Verdamae Thrush were assisted from the center of the field to the throne by five senior football players. The seniors also presented the girls with flowers.

Ohio-Purdue Game Headlines Ohio Grid Card

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio State's clash with Purdue headlines Saturday's program in which 27 of Ohio's 36 football squads see action.

The Bucks, tied with Northwestern for the conference leadership, need a victory to stay at the peak. Purdue has dropped one conference game, Minnesota winning 7 to 0.

The top contest in the smaller college field sends John Carroll's unbeaten squad against the once-defeated Toledo Rockets, and the Red Cats of undefeated Western Reserve against West Virginia at Cleveland.

Muskingum, which tied Wooster last week, meets Oberlin Saturday, while other Ohio loop contests are Kent State at Bowling Green, Denison at Wittenberg and Wooster at Oberlin.

Capital at Findlay, originally scheduled for tomorrow, will be played tonight.

Only one Buckeye conference tilt is on the card, Ohio University's league leaders invading Oxford for a scrap with Miami's Redskins, losers in two of three conference events.

Xavier and Dayton clash in the Gem city in a toss-up which should give some indication of what the Musketeers will do next year when they get in the Buckeye officially after their year of probation.

Other games are Ohio Wesleyan at Cincinnati, Detroit Tech at Heidelberg, Springfield (Mass.) Y. M. C. A. college at Baldwin Wallace, Illinois Wesleyan at Akron, Clarion at Hiram, Defiance at Bluffton (night) and Lincoln at Wilberforce.

The Rio Grande at Alfred Holbrook game originally scheduled for this week was played earlier in the season.

K-B Coalmen Figure They're Due to Receive Breaks Soon

SIX straight defeats are enough to discourage any ball club, but the Kallmerton and Baer Coals are not ready to give up yet in their quest for their first victory.

The Coals, who meet the touted Avondale Theaters of Columbus at League park Sunday, figure their turn is coming, and Sunday might be the day.

Although beaten in six straight games, the Coalmen have not been outclassed in any of their appearances. They held their own with virtually every foe, only to lose on some break of the game.

For instance, in the opening game with Detroit, which they lost, 12 to 6, a blocked punt set the stage for the winning touchdown. An intercepted pass in the last minute enabled Struthers to trim Coach Gip Miller's men, 12 to 6.

Win on Fumble.

Huntington trimmed the Coals on a fumble, 13 to 7, and a gambler's pass after the Coals were denied a touchdown by a penalty gave Rossford a 13 to 6 triumph over the Mansfield eleven.

A poor punt gave Canton a 6 to 0 victory and an intercepted pass made it possible for the touted Sanduskians to trim the Mansfield team last week.

Although realizing that the Coal's attack is not what it should be, Miller contends that not all of the defeats were deserved.

Rams Lift Lid On League Card

Crowd of 1,500 Expected to Pack Madison Field for First Game In Title Defense Tonight.

A HOMECOMING Day crowd of 1,500 is expected to pack Madison field to capacity at 8 p. m. tonight when the Rams open their defense of the Mid-State league title against the Loudonville Red Birds.

Coach Al Fendrick reported his club is in perfect condition for the first of only three games on the league card, but expected a battle from the Ashland county club.

Lose One to B Foe.

Loudonville comes to the suburban park tonight fresh from a 14 to 7 victory over Butler. It has won four games against two defeats, the only whipping administered by a Class B foe came at the hands of the undefeated Bellville eleven.

The Red Birds are expected to outweigh the Rams by several pounds, but Fendrick expects the speed of his club to offset this advantage.

Anxious to protect the team scoring lead they hold in the state, the Rams are expected to be touchdown-hungry again tonight, but whether Loudonville will permit them to romp in their customary fashion is hard to say.

Loudonville packs the strongest Class B defensive club the Rams have tackled so far this season. It has permitted only three touchdowns against foes of its own classification.

Gene Harmon, who has scored 115 points to date, and his running partner, Capt. Joe Miller, along with Bill Wilkins, will carry the brunt of the attack for the Rams.

Make Up Backfield.

Face Another Unbeaten Foe

Bantams Tackle Merchants of Akron Sunday.

Clyde Adam's bantamweight gridsters will play their third football game at the Fairground Sunday afternoon, and it will mark the second time that they engage an undefeated foe.

They meet the South Akron Merchants, who have won four games and permitted their goal line to be crossed only once. The Akron Pirates broke their perfect defensive record Sunday when they lost to the Merchants by a 7 to 6 count.

In their other games this year, the Merchants defeated Ravenna, 20 to 0; Columbus, 19 to 0, and Summit county home, 12 to 0.

In an attempt to score a victory, Coach Harry Dankakis plans a shakeup of the lineup Sunday. Three new players have been added to the line squad, and they will see action. They are Hunt, Hattman and J. Hallabrin.

A pre-game ticket sale is being conducted this week to assure a large crowd for Sunday's game. Tickets may be purchased from the players or officials.

The Indians were scheduled to meet Ashley, but the game was cancelled due to injuries on the Ashland team.

A feature of the one-sided victory was an 85-yard touchdown run by McPeek, who intercepted a pass late in the game to hang up the final touchdown for the Indians, who held a 21 to 0 lead at the half.

Five players figured in the scoring for Mt. Gilead, with England contributing a pair of touchdowns.

Crestline Ready For Whippets

Hutsonmen Attempt to Halt Shelby's Winning Streak at Home Tonight.

CRESTLINE—Author of one major upset already this season, Crestline high's football team was reported ready today by Coach Merle Hutson for tonight's tussle with the undefeated Shelby Whippets at Hamilton field.

The Onondagos recently defeated the Class A Mt. Vernon club, 25 to 7, after the Yellow Jackets had trimmed Madison.

Madison, in case you don't remember, is the only club outside of Galion's unbeaten Orangemen which has taken the measure of the home town boys this season.

In a paper comparison, Crestline hardly rates a chance with Shelby, which has registered seven straight triumphs, but the Hutsonmen are anxious to avenge the 40 to 9 defeat administered by the Whippets in their last meeting.

Crestline has won four straight games since the last defeat, and Shelby will probably be in for a battle tonight if the Onondagos continue to show the same form.

Crestline expects Harold Bliss and Bob Baker to cause the most trouble, but also believes that its own Phil Ganni will cause the Whippets an exciting evening on the defense

JUNIOR LOOP CONSIDERS MODIFIED BALL FOR 1939

CHICAGO — (U P) — American league officials considered today the feasibility of adopting a "modified ball" for the 1939 season, similar to the so-called "dead" ball usel in the National league.

William Harridge, American league president, revealed that managers of some teams have conferred with sporting goods manufacturers with the idea of deadening the "lively" ball, the delight of sluggers.

BLACKHAWKS CELEBRATE TROPHY PRESENTATION

CHICAGO — (NS — Chicago's world champion Blackhawks know a thing or two about this game of ice hockey, and they had two nice mementoes today to prove it

First Conference Win

BUCYRUS—Mt. Vernon's Yellow Jackets registered their first N. C. O. conference victory here last night when they walloped Bucyrus, 34 to 6.

The Mt. Vernon touchdowns were scored by Schlosser (2), Householder, Crummine and Conkle. Finney scored for the Redmen. Mt. Vernon led 13 to 0 at the half.

It was a hard-fought affair in which Carpenter held its own with the champions until the touchdown, scored by Swan. Brooks added the extra point.

Newman finished in second place by walloping Brinkerhoff, 18 to 0, at North park. Schwaner scored two of the Newman touchdowns. Zellers accounted for the other.

STOCK MARKET IRREGULAR IN QUIET SESSION

Carrier Bonds Continue to Point Higher; Brokers' Loans Up.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Light profit taking in Thursday's buoyant rails today made for mild irregularity in the stock market.

Inclined to edge forward were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison and DuPont.

Slightly in arrears were Anaconda, Kennecott, Westinghouse, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, N. Y. Central, Bethlehem, General Electric and Eastman Kodak.

Carrier bonds continued to point higher in a quiet market. Commodities were somewhat uneven.

Week-end trade reviews pointed to a lingering Indian summer as a retarding influence on retail spending.

Dun & Bradstreet said that while "there was evidence the public was in a better mood for buying than in many months" comparisons of retail distribution with last year were less favorable.

Federal reserve figures for the week ended Wednesday disclosed another drop in commercial, industrial and agricultural loans to a new low level in recent years. At the same time brokers' loans rose $7,000,000.

DAYTON SCHOOL FIGHT IN 'TRUCE'

Factions Try Again to Raise Money In Crisis.

DAYTON — (INS)—Opposing factions in the Dayton school closing controversy declared a truce today while they sought some means of raising money to get the children back in the classrooms.

Mason Douglass, counsel for Richard L. Withrow, school board member who brought suit to force fellow board members to reopen the schools, said "we are convinced that the school board now is without money and without borrowing power for at least the next three weeks."

The latest move to reopen classes, stopped last week when operating funds were exhausted, was to ask Probate Judge William C. Wiseman to declare an emergency and take over the school system.

YOUTH SLAIN IN PARKING DISPUTE

Hoodlums Kill Driver Who Protests Blocking Home.

CHICAGO—(INS)—Three young hoodlums who shot a householder to death because he objected to having them park their car in front of his home, were sought by police today.

The victim was Donald Warden, 27, who lived near a community theater and found the curb so crowded in the evening he was unable to park his own automobile.

After the trio routed him in a fist fight, one followed to the door and fired as Warden started in. He collapsed in the arms of his young wife, Annette.

FUMES KILL TRUCKER

"Every citizen in a house of worship every Sunday would mean more to the material, moral and spiritual welfare of Mansfield than any other single act," the judge added.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter, who was active in organizing the movement in Mansfield, issued a proclamation today urging citizens to observe Go-To-Church Sunday.

"Whereas it is the duty as well as the privilege of every citizen," his proclamation says "to acknowledge the providences of God; whereas, the ministers and representative laymen from the various Mansfield churches have met and recommended to the people of the city a day for worship in the various churches to be observed as Go to Church Sunday; now, therefore, I do recommend and assign Sunday the 6th day of November next to be devoted by the people of this city as Go to Church Sunday, and that all who possibly can will please be found in some house of worship in this city to worship God and reverence Him and His goodness to us. Given under my hand, at the city of Mansfield on the third day of November, 1938."

Knows His Hollywood.

Lew Ayers, who plays a young medical student in "Young Doctor Kildaire," knows his Hollywood from several angles, for he has played extras (that was before his success in "All Quiet on the Westenr Front") played romantic leads, character roles, took a fling at directing and now is back in leads. Lionel Barrymore is featured with him in his latest picture, which is at the Ohio.

Film Interests Legionnaires.

An antique ring, stolen from a doughboy on leave in Paris during the World war, plays an important part in his restoration to honor ranks 20 years after the war, in "Sons of the Legion," which is being shown at the Madison. Legionnaires and Boy Scouts, as well as sons of Legionnaires, are taking a keen interest in the picture.

Cowboy In Congress.

A cow hand goes to congress in "Under Western Stars," opening today at the Majestic, and amuses Washington with his drawl and his cowboy songs, but in the end he gets federal aid for the drought-stricken ranchers. Roy Rogers and Carol Hughes with Smiley Burnette, head the cast. "Dangerous Secrets" with Paul Lukas is the second feature.

A Dashing Hero.

Dashing and colorful is Warner Baxter as the last of the Highland rebels who resent English domination, in "Kidnapped," one of the Ritz features for its opening bill after having been closed for several weeks. Freddie Bartholomew is seen as the youngster whose destiny crossed that of Alan Breck. A Judge Hardy episode, "Judge Hardy's Children," rounds out the bill.

Master of Make-Up.

Boris Karloff proved himself a master of make-up when he played the role of the monster in "Frankenstein." The monster was a creature made up of odd parts of human bodies and given life by electricity, and a criminal's brain by mistake. Karloff's make-up shows all of these factors. The picture is being shown at the Park theater, along with "Dracula," another picture of the same type.

FLY TO MARS? IT'S LONG TRIP

It Would Take 1,000 Years in Fastest Rocket Ship Ever Developed by Tests.

"canals" at all. These have to be seen with the eye. Some of the best astronomers claim to see them; others have denied the lines are visible.

The earth's separation from communication with Mars is becoming less certain now. Theoretically a space ship could make the flight.

Would Take 1,000 Years

Rocket ship propulsion would do it—for a man who had one thousand years or more to live and fuels which do not now exist.

The engineering principles have been established by rocket motor scientists. These have shown that a rocket will shoot through "empty" space, in fact, travel much easier there than in atmosphere.

Rocket engineers have produced speeds of 700 miles an hour with small rocket motors, and might predict that speeds of 1,000 miles an hour are attainable.

At that rate, unless the rocket ship travelled many times faster in space, it would take about 1,400 years to fly to Mars when the planet is closest. The distances from earth range from 34,000,000 miles to 46,000,000.

For Martians, if they exist, to be the pioneers in a trip between planets, much more advanced knowledge than exists on earth would be necessary. Scientists know that stores of high energy exist in the binding forces of atoms that could drive a rocket ship millions of miles.

But there is yet no idea of how this energy can be obtained, and some doubt that it can ever be done. If Martians have found out how to get atomic energy, it is likely they also have the materials and the engineering skill to make a flight to earth.

But no Martians have arrived, so that this speculation, like all the others, ends in the verdict—no evidence of higher forms of life on Mars.

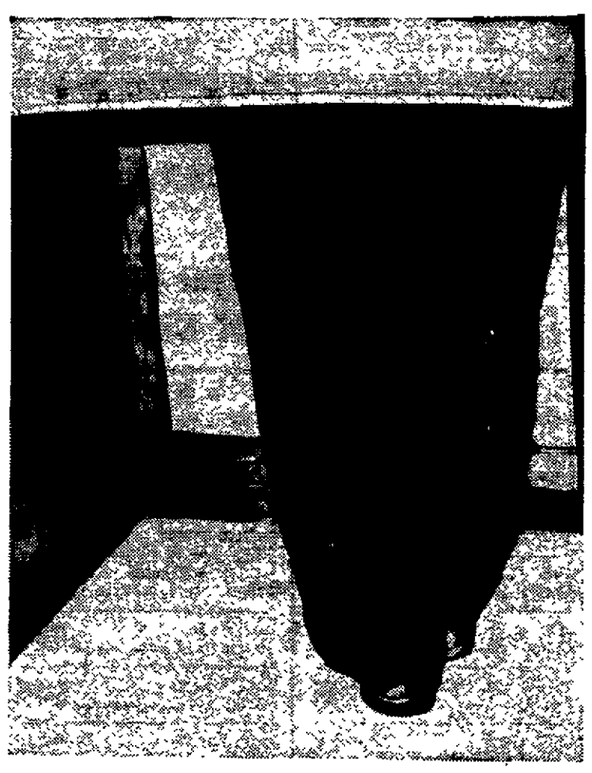
Elections!



THOUSANDS OF CANDIDATES FOR THOUSANDS OF OFFICES—WHO WILL BE THE WINNERS?

Minutes after the polls close on November 8 a staff of 50,000 Associated Press election experts will begin reporting the results for this newspaper and 1,400 other AP members. From Vermont to Florida, from New Jersey to California, they will count the returns and rush the information to waiting front pages, providing readers with accurate and speedy returns on the balloting for 32 governors, 37 United States Senators, 435 Congressmen, as well as countless other state, county and municipal officials.

The complete returns will be available to all readers weeks before the official counts are completed.

HOW IS IT POSSIBLE TO PROVIDE SUCH RAPID ELECTION COVERAGE?

Six months ago The Associated Press began setting up its regular election machinery. Its far-flung staff, covering every one of the 120,000 election districts over the land, relays the returns to the nearest tabulating bureau. There, experienced editors check the totals, write their reports and feed the massive story over AP's 285,000-mile leased wire network into the offices of all member newspapers.

The returns also will speed into AP's huge Washington bureau where a staff of political experts will evaluate the returns and explain their significance.

Thus, may readers know who was elected and why.

The Associated Press is the only news organization in the United States that gathers, tabulates, and transmits the complete story of any nation-wide election.

For the complete story of the election read the November 9 editions of this newspaper.

SPOTLIGHT ON INDIANA AFTER M'NUTT BOOM

Chances of Ex-Governor in Next Presidential Campaign Hinge on Nov. 8.

(By Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS — Political observers have put Indiana's election returns on their "must" list.

The outcome of the Republican-Democratic battle for one senatorship and 12 house seats could offset the flowering of the presidential boom for the former Indiana governor, handsome Paul V. McNutt.

In the headline race, Raymond E. Willis, weekly newspaper editor of Angola, Republican, challenges Frederick Van Nuys, Democrat, who wants to keep his U. S. senatorship.

McNutt Has Remote Control.

McNutt, now American high commissioner to the Philippines, is credited with having kept a tight hold on the reins of his state's Democratic machine, fashioned during his governorship. A sweeping Democratic victory in Indiana would be hailed by McNutt followers as adding new luster to his reputation.

A Republican victory would tend to dampen hopes that the former national commander of the American Legion was on the road to the White House.

Peace With Van Nuys.

Regarded as evidence of McNutt's aspirations for the presidential nomination was the sudden smothering of a fued which might have split the party in Indiana.

Paul V. McNutt

Senator Van Nuy's determined opposition to the president's court reorganization plan brought talk of reprisal by state Democratic leaders.

When Van Nuys said he would run as an independent, opposition quickly wilted. He was nominated in convention by acclamation.

Willis, his Republican opponent, is a blunt, homespun campaigner. He attacks New Deal policies as ruinous to business, as tending toward dictatorship.

Republicans count on low crop prices for "a general swing away from the New Deal."

Tomorrow: Illinois.

11 T. B. Patients, Sent Home From Sanitariums, Vitally Interested in Election.

little brother and sister are in immediate danger. The family income is just barely sufficient to keep them going and off relief. But there isn't any money for Jimmy's care and treatments.

"The nurse said that if I be a good boy at the hospital and sleep lots and drink lots of milk, I could go out and play with the other fellas in eight months," Jimmy says. "I only got four months to go, when I go back to the sanitarium. Gee! I can't wait to start again!" He has absolutely no doubt but what he'll have his chance again.

In spite of the fact that she must sleep as much as she can, a 31-year-old mother will stay awake Tuesday night until the returns on the special ballots are announced. She is old enough to know that her life depends upon the outcome. She is very ill, but she had responded to treatment and the doctors give her every hope—if she can be hospitalized for six more months. She has three children, two of pre-school age and one in school, and their constant demands upon "mama," even though she is in bed, is not conducive to the complete rest that she must have.

Then there is the 41-year-old father of five children, who was an advanced case before he came to the attention of the T.B. clinic, but there is every hope for him if he can be returned to the sanitarium within a few weeks.

And there's a high school boy, whose disease is an early stage, but unless he can have proper care and treatment, he will become an advance case in a short time.

There are 11 of them—these victims of tuberculosis who cannot help themselves. They come from Mansfield and all sections of the county. Besides them there are still many more who are in sanitariums and too ill to be brought home—even though the cost of their hospitalization is piling up an indebtedness against the county.

The proposed half-mill levy scattered over the entire county will bring commissioners about $45,000 a year for tuberculosis cases. In the past the cost per year has been as high at $25,000, but there have always been cases that couldn't be cared for because of insufficient funds.

The proposed levy is the first time that the county has been asked for a definite sum to fight the dread disease.

VOTERS TO PICK JUDGES FOR TWO COURTS NOV. 8

4 Seats to Be Filled on State Supreme Bench and One on Appellate Tribunal.

Ohio voters, when they go to the polls Nov. 8, will have the opportunity of voting on candidates for judicial office as well as for the various party candidates.

All Ohio voters will cast ballots on candidates for the supreme court, and in each district will vote on candidates for the court of appeals.

Judicial office seekers are listed on a separate ballot. Although nominated in the primaries by parties, they run in November on non-partisan ticket.

To be selected for the supreme court are a chief justice, a judge whose term will commence Jan. 1, a judge whose term will commence Jan. 2 and a judge who will fill a vacancy until Dec. 31, 1939.

On Same Ballot.

Richland county voters will also vote on the same ballot—for an appeals court judge.

Contesting for the post of chief justice are Judge Carl V. Weygandt, incumbent, and Judge Walter B. Wanamaker of Akron; for the term starting Jan. 1, for six years, are Judge Edward S. Matthias of Van Wert and R. M. Winegardner of Lima; for the term starting Jan. 2, Judge Robert N. Gorman of Cincinnati and Judge William L. Hart of Alliance; and for the unexpired term, ending Dec. 31, G. K. Allen and William C. Dixon, both of Cleveland.

Seeking election to the court of appeals are Judge Charles W. Montgomery, Newark, incumbent, and Thomas P. Jones of Canton.

Following are brief sketches of the candidates mentioned above:

Judge Charles V. Weygandt—Member of Ohio's judiciary since 1924, Judge Weygandt has been chief justice of the Ohio Supreme court for the past six years. He was on the Eighth district appellate court bench two years before he was elected to the supreme court. He served in the Ohio house of representatives in 1921-22, and is the author of Weygandt's "Ohio's Charges to Juries." A native of Wayne county, he was educated at Wooster college and Western Reserve university.

Walter B. Wanamaker—Elected common pleas judge in Summit county in 1930, Judge Wanamaker is now seeking the office held by his father, R. M. Wanamaker who served two terms on the Ohio Supreme court. Planned to seek the chief justice post in 1932 but withdrew his petitions in order to give former Chief Justice Carrington T. Marshall a clear field in the Republican primary.

Edward S. Matthias—Seeking his fifth term on the Supreme court bench, Judge Matthias has served since 1915, longer than any other member of the state's highest court. His friends call him "a man of action and few words." He came to the supreme court from Van Wert county where he was common pleas judge. Formerly was national commander of the United Spanish War Veterans.

R. M. Winegardner—Candidate for the supreme court a second time, having been a nominee for the post in 1934, he now seeks the full six-year term. He has been an attorney, supervisor for the state tax commission, assistant attorney general, and this year was made a deputy state tax commissioner. A native of Allen county, he is 38 years old. Graduated from Ohio Northern university.

Robert N. Gorman—Appointed to the Supreme court in 1937 by Gov. Martin L. Davey, Judge Gorman is a candidate for his first full term. Formerly a law instructor at the University of Cincinnati, he later was elected common pleas judge of Hamilton county and was serving a six-year term when named to the state's high court.

William L. Hart—Former president of the Ohio Bar association, Hart is the senior member of an Alliance law firm. He has held one public office, that of Supreme court judge in 1934. He has had a colorful career, having worked in stone quarries, coal mines, and lumber camps. He has been a trustee of Mt. Union college for more than 20 years and has practiced law for more than 40 years.

William C. Dixon—As Ohio relief director, Dixon has spent most of his time since he was nominated at the August primary trying to solve the poor relief problem. He instigated a campaign against relief "chiselers," and has sought to improve the efficiency of county relief agencies. Dixon was born in New York state 34 years ago but has made his home in Cleveland since 1911. Graduated from the University of Michigan and began practicing law in 1928. He is the father of two daughters. He is a candidate for the unexpired six-week term on the Supreme court bench.

Gus K. Allen—An attorney, playwright, poet and evangelist, Allen is seeking election to the Supreme court for the six-week term "to fulfill a vision." Allen said a fortune teller once told him he would be a judge and later he had a vision which told him the same thing. Now, he aspires to make the vision come true. He was unsuccessful in his candidacy for Cleveland municipal judge in 1937.

Charles W. Montgomery—Appointed to the Fifth district court of appeals by Gov. Myers Y. Cooper in 1930, Judge Montgomery is a candidate for re-election to the office he has held since then. Born on a farm near Granville, he was graduated from Denison university and practiced law in Newark for 25 years. Served 22 months in the army, including 10 months as a major of infantry in France during the World war. Richland county is one of the 15 in the Fifth district which Judge Montgomery serves.

Thomas P. Jones—Candidate for his first elective office, Jones is a Canton attorney and special counsel for the state banking department under Atty. General Herbert S. Duffy. He formerly was assistant district counsel for the Home Owners Loan corporation in Ohio. Graduated from Ohio Northern university in 1931, Jones is 34. CONGRESS RACE TOPS DISTRICT VOTE BATTLES

Ashbrook, Woodward in Only Heated Scrap in Otherwise Quiet Local Campaign.

(Editor's Note: The accompanying article gives brief sketches of the candidates for county and district offices who will be voted upon at Tuesday's election. Tomorrow another article will discuss special issues and levies on the Nov. 8 ballot.

Because most county officers now serve four-year terms, the 1938 political race so far as strictly local contests are concerned is a quiet one this year.

Only a county commissioner and a county auditor are to be elected, and Norman Wolfe, Democratic candidate for auditor, is unopposed. John C. Friday, Republican, is running against C. L. Mitchell, incumbent Democrat for the commission post.

But county voters also will make their selections of a county representative in the state assembly, and will ballot too on a candidate for the state senate from the 27th-29th Ohio district, which includes Richland, Ashland, Lorain and Medina counties.

And they will vote for a representative in congress from the 17th district, which includes Richland, Ashland, Coshocton, Knox, Delaware and Licking counties.

This contest, with William A. Ashbrook, Democratic incumbent, opposed by Walter B. Woodward, Townsend-Republican from Bellville, is the standout of all races with a local complexion.

Seeks Third Term.

In the other contest of special interest in Richland county, Ralph C. Lutz, Lexington lumber dealer, will be opposed for re-election to the general assembly by Harry Maxwell, Republican, who is making his first bid for a public office. Lutz is seeking his third term.

In the state senatorial race, Maurice C. Brown, Lorain Democratic councilman and theater operator, will oppose P. H. Rogers of Grafton, Republican representative to the general assembly from Lorain county for the past 10 years.

The veteran Ashbrook, who served his first term in congress in 1907, and was in Washington continuously until 1921, and Woodward, who has never held an elective office, has provided the only "fireworks" in an otherwise quiet campaign. The Townsend plan has provided fuel for their exchange of verbal lashings, with New Deal mesaures as a secondary issue.

With the backing of the county Republican organization and the national Townsend movement, Woodward has campaigned on a seven-point platform centered around the Townsend plan.

He has frequently taken "shots" at the veteran Ashbrook for his support of New Deal measures.

Publisher Since 1885.

Before his election to congress, Ashbrook was postmaster at Johnstown and he has been publisher of the Johnstown Independent, a weekly newspaper, since 1885. Before going to congress he was in the Ohio legislature one year. In 1932 he was re-elected to congress.

Woodward, a farmer near Bellville, served six years on the Richland county board of elections and formerly taught school.

The state senatorial race brings Brown, who defeated William F. Hurley of Lorain county, Democratic incumbent, in the primary, against the veteran Rogers.

Brown, a former superintendent on building construction jobs, is bidding for the labor vote in the district. He was elected to the Lorain city council last year for his first elective office.

Rogers is campaigning on his record of economy in the state legislature. He has consistently opposed measures that would increase state taxes.

Keenest of the races within the county is the contest for the county commisisoner post to be filled this year. Mitchell, incumbent Democrat and chairman of the board of three members, is seeking re-election. He is opposed by Friday, Springfield township farmer who served one term on the board, retiring in 1932.

5,000 FIGHTING FOREST BLAZES

Five States Menaced While Flames Costing Thousands in Damage Roar on.

(By United Press)

Nearly 5,000 volunteers, WPA workers and CCC enrollees today were battling a series of forest fires in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia, which already have destroyed thousands of dollars worth of timber and are endangering isolated homes and communities in their paths.

The fires were sweeping across sections of Wayne and Hamilton counties in southern Illinois, and through a dozen counties in the Cumberland mountain region in southeastern Kentucky. Scores of small brush and timber fires were reported across the Kentucky border in Virginia and West Virginia.

Forest rangers said the areas were extremely susceptible to fire due to a lack of rain during the past few weeks.

Conditions are most serious in southern Illinois and in southeastern Kentucky where flames have destroyed more than $100,000 worth of timber and threatened coal mine tipples in Harlan, Bell, Leslie, Whitley, Jackson, Letcher and Pike counties.

Three hundred CCC workers were fighting along a three-mile front northwest of Columbus, Ind. The fire already has destroyed 1,500 acres of timber. The firemen warned several families in the path of the flames to evacuate their homes.

Television Ready For Home Use Says Head of RCA

NEW YORK—(AP)—Television is ready for the home, David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, told a meeting of the board of directors of the Radio Manufacturers association.

At the same time, he announced that his company was planning to manufacture a limited quantity of television receivers which it expects to market before next April.

While pointing out that "many technical, artistic and financial problems" still remain before a regular public service of programs can be established, he said that nevertheless the New York transmitter soon would be ready to start a limited program service to the public of at least two hours a week.

WED AT POLICE STATION

TURLOCK, Cal.—(AP)—Love laughed, if not with locksmiths, at least with turnkeys when Marion Olds and Miss Kathryn Martin were married at police headquarters. Desk Sergeant David C. Peters, a retired clergyman, officiated, while Chief of Police E. W. Grady was one of the witnesses.

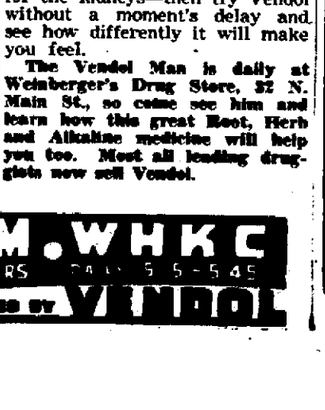
ASHLAND MAN NO LONGER GETS UP FEELING HEADACHY OR DIZZY

Says he now feels better than in 15 years, after taking the great Root, Herb and Alkaline medicine Vendol, now being introduced here in Mansfield through Weinberger's.



MR. HARVEY L. KYLE

"I had suffered from constipation for over twenty years, and I believe this caused the distressing bilious attacks that came over me," declared Mr. Harvey L. Kyle, well known citizen residing at 701 Heltman Ave., Ashland, Ohio, to the Vendol Man who is now at Weinberger's Drug Store.

"In the mornings I would get up with a dull headache, felt dizzy and had a bitter, brassy taste in my mouth. There was a heavy white coating on my tongue and my skin was a sallow, ashen color. My appetite was changeable and after meals regardless of what I ate, I suffered from gas, sour stomach and a heavy feeling, and this often kept me awake at night.

"I had tried many different laxatives during these years but had to change from one to the other until I began taking Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets, which gave me the first genuine relief from constipation I have ever had, and without losing their effect. As a result, I never feel dizzy or headachy any more, no bad taste in my mouth, coating is gone from my tongue, and I get up every morning feeling refreshed after a good night's rest.

"Many nights my sleep was broken from severe pains in the small of my back and cramps in the muscles of my legs. Vendol acted as a mild diuretic to my kidneys and now I'm relieved of this suffering.

"I have taken Vendol less than a month, but already feel better than in 15 years, so I'm glad to recommend it to others troubled as I was."

If you start out the day feeling tired, listless, dizzy, headachy; have no appetite and food distresses you; back aches and muscles are stiff and sore—all because your bowels are constipated or you need a mild diuretic for the kidneys—then try Vendol without a moment's delay and see how differently it will make you feel.

The Vendol Man is daily at Weinberger's Drug Store, 82 N. Main St., so come see him and learn how this great Root, Herb and Alkaline medicine will help you too. Most all leading druggists now sell Vendol.

CALLS PENSION PLAN 'FANTASY'

Ashbrook Renews Attack on Townsendism Before 400 at Shelby Rally.

couldn't blame you if the cat dragged in something that you didn't want."

Walter B. Woodward of Bellville, a Townsend leader, is the Republican candidate for congress.

"The Townsend plan is appealing and alluring to folks past the meridian of life," he said. And I can't blame those folks who have been told that they will receive a pension of $200 a month and live a life of ease for being taken in by such talk.

"But the whole proposition is a utopian dream that will never come true.

"It is the most cruel scheme ever concocted. Use your own good common sense and you can realize that such a plan can never be enacted."

Ashbrook told his audience that he was not there to speak "honeyed words" for "never in my political career have I made a statement that I could not make in good faith."

He stated that he was in favor of old age pensions—reasonable pensions and pointed out that because he had been a friend of such a plan years before the Townsend movement started, his fellow legislators in Washington had dubbed him "Pension Bill."

"Now the opposition wants to change that to 'Piker Bill' because I am not demagog enough to approve their plan," he added.

"There is only one issue in the 17th congressional race and that issue is whether we shall have a 2 per cent transaction tax imposed on us."

Ashbrook predicted as in two previous speeches in the district that the tax if enacted would increase the cost of living 25 per cent and would result in "national bankruptcy" within a year.

T. J. Duffy, former chairman of the Ohio industrial commission, campaigning for the party ticket urged a straight Democratic vote at the polls next Tuesday.

Duffy lauded the New Deal and the Democratic party for the progress made in the past six years, calling it the "greatest recovery movement" in the history of the nation.

County candidates who spoke briefly were County Representative Ralph C. Lutz, County Commissioner C. L. Mitchell, and County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe, all candidates for re-election.

The meeting was in charge of Atty. Frank Long who spoke on behalf of the proposed half mill tuberculosis levy.

300 at Ward Rallies.

In Mansfield last night, two ward rallies drew upwards to 300 persons.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter and County Prosecutor Glenn W. Marriott addressed a First Ward meeting at the Prospect park pavilion while Atty. C. H. Henkel and John Correll, president of the Richland county Young Democratic club spoke at a Fourth Ward rally at the Bowman street school.

Meanwhile party leaders today completed plans for a district rally at their West Fourth street headquarters at 8 p. m. today at which William Pickrel, former lieutenant governor will speak.

Appearing on the same program will be Atty. A. S. Beach and Atty. Henkel. The meeting will be in charge of Atty. John C. O'Donnell, county executive chairman.

Following the meeting, a 17th district dance sponsored by the Young Democratic club will be held with Dale Stevens and his orchestra providing the music.

Oscar Loyer, state president of the Young Democratic clubs will address the group.

At the same time Richland county colored Democrats will hold a district rally and fish fry at their headquarters at 246 North Diamond street. W. J. Rogers, representing the state treasurer's office will be the principal speaker.

County Democrats will wind up their campaign Monday with the traditional Fifth Ward election eve meeting which will be held at the Sons of Herman hall on Orange street.

Sunday, county Italians will rally at Democratic headquarters to hear Charles West, the president's erstwhile contact man, speak to them in their own language in behalf of the party ticket.

MOTION DENIED

City Loses Plea For New Trial In $25,000 Damage Suit.

Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston today had overruled the defense motion for a new trial of a $25,000 personal damage suit against the city of Mansfield.

The motion was filed last week by City Solicitor M. D. Ward, jr., after a jury had awarded William Willett, jr., of Cincinnati, a $1,200 verdict for the death of his wife. Mrs. Julia Willet, in an automobile accident on Lexington avenue in 1936. In overruling the motion, Judge Huston ordered the city to pay the $1,200 damages and costs of the trial.

SAWYER CLAIMS EASY VICTORY

Margin Growing Every Day, He Tells Rally; Cox Urges Support for Him.

"My Republican opponent admitted here that I would carry Cuyahoga county by about 200,000 votes. Previous to that my opponent had admitted in Cleveland that he would carry Cuyahoga county by 25,000 votes. You can see how fast he has been slipping these last few days.

In his Springfield speech Sawyer gave himself a 200,000 majority for the state.

Cox, introducing Sawyer here, referred to assertions that the Committee for Industrial Organization was supporting Sawyer actively and asked:

"What has Charlie Sawyer to do with the labor involvements of the present administration? If the hour of stress and challenge arrives, what this state wants is a man steady in mind and hand, true in his sense of justice and recognizing that great as is the interest of employer and employes, there is a public interest, too.

"In such a crisis, there is not a man in Ohio whom I would trust above Charlie Sawyer."

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Both U. S. Sen. Robert J. Bulkley and Dr. Carl Watson, Ohio WPA administrator, appeared today to the Sheppard campaign investigating committee to speed its scheduled probe of Republican charges that the state's 285,000 WPA workers have been "coerced" to vote and work for the Democratic ticket. Bulkley branded as "silly" the Taft-Bricker coercion charge.

AKRON—(AP)—Citing Roosevelt administration measures, Sen. Robert J. Bulkley asked Ohio voters in a campaign radio address last night if they "wish to repudiate the New Deal."

"The real issue is a broader one than the question of my record," said Bulkley. "The real issue is the New Deal against the Old Deal."

The Democratic incumbent asserted Robert A. Taft, his Republican opponent, "has definitely stated that he is in favor of returning to old methods." Bulkley declared the New Deal "means the assumption of new federal responsibility for the welfare of the people."

He praised the WPA and PWA for having "given jobs to the unemployed." Federal insurance of bank deposits, he said, "has afforded protection to millions of small savers."

Naming other New Deal agencies, Bulkley asked:

"Which of these measures do our opponents want repealed, or do they merely insist that the good work must stop there? . . People are not impressed with the fear of government spending when they see so clearly its beneficial effects and when they know that the credit of the nation is absolutely sound."

REPUBLICANS IN FINALE TONIGHT

Party Fires Final Blast of County Campaign, Herbert to Give Address.

will speak briefly, party leaders said.

Considered one of the ablest speakers on the Republican state ticket, Herbert will be making his only appearance here since the campaign opened. He is a Cleveland attorney.

Nearly 100 colored voters heard Rev. J. W. Charvis, colored speaker from Columbus, criticize the New Deal administration for luring the colored people "over to the Democratic side with a loaf of bread," at a rally last night at party headquarters.

"The Democrats took advantage of the colored man while he was down, because he suffers most from depressions," Rev. Charvis said.

"Washington is crowded with deputy work relief administrators who get $200 a month while you (colored people) do the work for a measly $50 a month," he asserted. In the handling of relief, "the administrators keep $95 and give you $5," he added.

"It was the Republican party that gave the colored man his emancipation and made him equal to other citizens, while the Democrats ignored him and even prevented him from voting in the South," Rev. Charvis charged.

John C. Friday, candidate for county commissioner, and Harry Maxwell, candidate for state representative, spoke at rallies last night at Butler and Lexington. State and national issues were reviewed at the meetings by Attys. Raymond J. Brown and Stuart H. Cramer, Mansfield, and Theodore Lutz of Shelby.

2 DIE AS FIRE SWEEPS RECTORY

Priest, Trapped Five Floors Up, Burned Critically.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Two men, one a Franciscan brother, died early today in flames which damaged upper floors of the rectory of the Church of St. Anthony of Padua.

One priest, trapped five floors above the street, was critically burned, and another was injured in leaping from a window to the roof of an adjacent building two floors below.

The dead were Brother John Chiazza, 48, and Julius Tappero, 65, a cook.

A third priest suffering from exposure, was hospitalized.

SALE DATES SET

D. A. V. Forget-Me-Nots Appear on Nov. 11 and 12.

Disabled Veterans of the World war have chosen Armistice day and the following Saturday for their Forget-Me-Not sale, which will be conducted on downtown streets.

The forget-me-not is the memorial flower of the organization and is sold annually in cities and towns all over the country, funds being used to rehabilitate disabled veterans.

Boy Scouts of Troop 16 and a number of high school girls will sell the little blue flowers on the street Friday and Saturday of next week. Plans for the sale were made last night at Memorial building when the Disabled Veterans met with their commander, Jacob L. Graves.

Rail Executives Meet on Wage Cut Decision In Chicago.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Executives of 139 class 1 railroads met today to determine whether to withdraw or stand by their order for a 15 per cent wage reduction for 360,000 employes. If they persist, they will face a national strike Dec. 1.

Persons close to the situation believed the carriers will call off the cut.

BRICKER BLASTS AT DAVEY 'DEAL'

Denies Charge, Says Sawyer Once Backed Governor He Now Attacks.

"I said I would end those things, that I would clean out the state house from top to bottom, and I will."

Bricker asked where Sawyer, his Democratic opponent, was "a year ago."

"He was asking for the continuation of the present administration and he got it," the Republican nominee continued. "He didn't declare for good government until he became a candidate and had a selfish interest to serve.

"Only the Republican party can conduct the purge which is required."

Of a press he termed hostile to him, Bricker said:

"The newspapers have a public responsibility, the same as public officials, and all that I ask is that they tell the truth. The newspapers here put the heat on me while I was attorney general for appointments. I resisted them and saw the day when they condemned me."

HITS WAGE-HOUR BILL

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Robert A. Taft, Republican senatorial nominee, told A. F. of L. representatives in a campaign speech here last night that New Deal "philosophy" threatens through the wage and hour law to make unionism "a useless thing."

"The wage and hour law now deals with minimum wages and maximum hours," said Taft. "But I don't think it would end at that if the philosophy of the Roosevelt administration were continued.

"Very soon you would find the law fixing maximums and minimums. That would leave the labor union a useless thing in the welfare of the working man and the worker would be ruled by the law and would have no say in it."

The Republican accused his Democratic opponent, Sen. Robert J. Bulkley, of employing as a bid for votes his announcement that a $1,000,000 veterans' hospital would be erected in Cleveland.

"The people have been crying out for that hospital for months," Taft said, "but Bulkley's announcement does not come until six days before election.

"I understand that tomorrow (Friday) night he is going down to Portsmouth to promise them a new sea wall as part of a flood prevention program.

WARNS POWERS

Japan Tells Them to Send Gunboats From Battle Scene.

SHANGHAI —(AP)— Japanese authorities warned neutral powers today to send their gunboats up the Yangtze river at least as far as Shasi, 120 miles west of Hankow, and designated the area between Hankow and Shasi a zone of hostilities.

The Japanese memorandum added that there was now "no section of China over which Japanese planes can not operate."

BRICKER'S REPLY TO THE 70-30 DEAL

Mr. Sawyer has descended to the lowest depths of campaign deception. He has charged his opponent with making a 70-30 patronage deal with the present Democratic Administration.

To which charge Mr. Bricker replies:

"The charges are only the frantic falsehoods of a desperate candidate, who is vainly trying to raise some fake issue that will take public attention away from Sawyer's proven connection with the radical CIO leaders."

"Instead of discussing issues and problems of government he confines himself almost entirely to a discussion of patronage and to a repetition of mean gossip started by his own paid agents. Either he is unable to discuss the real issues of the campaign or he is dodging them. He continues to repeat his false claim that I or someone else in the Republican Party has made a deal with the present Democratic Administration. I declared this claim to be a fake the first time it was uttered. Apparently he has no regard for the truth."

(Signed) John W. [illegible]

What more can Mr. Bricker do than renounce and repudiate such a deal.

The truth is that behind the scene Martin L. Davey and his corrupt political machine are doing everything possible for the election of Sawyer. Why? Because they fear an investigation of the Davey administration if Bricker is elected.

If Davey is really for Bricker he would immediately endorse Sawyer which would make certain the election of John Bricker.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1938.

If "ignorance is bliss" it becomes difficult to account for so many discontented people.

There are all kinds of people, including those who are willing to cash in by promoting some sort of fantastic pension plan.

Thanksgiving comes later in the month, but as early as next Wednesday there will be something to be thankful for—the election will be over.

Movement Toward Religious Recovery.

AS PART of a nation-wide program of "Religious and Welfare Recovery," next Sunday, November 6, is to be observed in Mansfield as "Go To Church Sunday."

The national committees associated with this movement is made up of more than five hundred prominent leaders representing all of the major religious faiths, with the broad objectives of deepening spiritual life, strengthening moral purpose and increasing loyalty to religious, educational, welfare and character-building institutions.

A statement of basic principles and facts associated with the movement includes the following:

"The chief assets of a nation are not its material resources, but the moral character of its citizens.

"Our fundamental problems are moral and spiritual, rather than economic or political.

"The church and related institutions are major factors in the conservation and development of moral and spiritual power . . .

"The things that unite the races and religions of men are more important than the things that divide."

The churches of Mansfield invite large attendance at next Sunday's services. Mayor Claude M. Hunter, in a proclamation, urges attendance at some house of worship by all who can possibly do so.

Mansfield is known as a "City of Churches"—but a number of these beautiful edifices are frequently unfilled at Sunday services. A city without churches would be a poor place, indeed, in which to live and to rear a family. But if church members do not attend Sunday services how can churches be expected to carry on successfully?

Go to church Sunday—you'll feel better on Monday.

Vote to Wipe Out Daveyism.

THE thing most needed in Ohio right now is a complete repudiation of Daveyism and a thorough cleansing of state departments from the baleful influence of Martin L. Davey, who has discredited the office of governor for the past four years.

It is the belief of what now appears to be a majority of Ohio voters that this can be best accomplished by electing Charles Sawyer to the office of governor.

Whatever may be the actual facts connected with the reported "deal" by which support of Davey's personal hangers-on is being thrown to John W. Bricker, Republican nominee, in exchange for Davey control of 30 per cent of state jobs, it must be entirely clear that Sawyer is free from any such handicap to independent action.

Ohio can no longer endure even a 30 per cent dilution of Daveyism in its state government and it is only by electing Sawyer that the danger of such an outcome can be avoided.

It is promised by Mr. Sawyer that competent state office holders will find their jobs safe as long as they perform their work efficiently. Nothing more should be asked by any good citizen.

The vindictive attitude that Davey has taken against Sawyer is entirely understandable. The men are as different in personality and standards as can be imagined. Davey has shown himself to be a petty politician, bent on advancing his own interests and accomplishing his own ends, regardless of consequences and in total disregard of the public interest. Sawyer's whole career, public and private, has been such as to inspire confidence, not only in his ability but also in his trustworthiness.

Ohio has had at least a few great governors in the past. Voters of this state now have opportunity to restore that high office to a tradition of administration that will again reflect credit on the Buckeye state.

This can be done by electing Charles Sawyer as governor—with the repudiation of Daveyism that will thus be evidenced.

Mark the Park Commission Ballot.

AMONG the several small ballots which Mansfield voters will receive next Tuesday is one on which they are asked to vote on the matter of establishing a public parks commission in this city.

This is an entirely non-partisan issue, intended to remove the operation and improvement of Mansfield's public parks from the uncertainties of changing city administrations and to assure a continuous program of upkeep and betterment, under competent and interested supervision.

Members of the proposed park commission are to serve without pay. Garden clubs, park associations and other civic groups interested in maintenance and further development of Mansfield's park system, favor the change. No opposition has been expressed.

The ballot on the park commission issue is headed "Proposed Board of Park Commissioners," with space provided to mark an "x" either for or against.

Don't overlook this ballot—place an "X" before the FOR.

Construction Going Up.

BUILDING construction, long deferred, seems to be getting under way at last. The recent conference held by this industry in Washington developed more optimism than there has been for many years.

Thomas S. Holden, president of the New York Building congress, told the conference that the annual construction volume of nearly $5,000,000,000 a year that we had after the war may be expected again within five years. A new recovery cycle has already begun, he declared, with private construction amounting already to $2,000,000,000 a year, and this may be expected to increase nearly one and a half times by 1943.

The American people, Dr. Gallup reports, are two to one against "$30 every Thursday." Not against the money, you understand, but against gambling on such a pleasant dream.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Japan has blasted all a section of China containing half its population and and most of its wealth.

The end result of that is as certain to realistic observers as the rising sun. Japan's share of the eastern China trade will increase by leaps and bounds and the shares of other nations will decrease in proportion.

The methods by which it will be brought about already are being demonstrated with such marked success that the state department, through Ambassador Grew, has protested. By one trade device or another American and other foreign merchants and business men have been forced out of Manchukuo. Threats about that brought no result.

Business By Bayonets.

THE latest protest mentions what has happened in Manchukuo and cautions Japan against letting it happen in the rest of China. But the odds are, we get from more than one authentic source, that the results will be no better as far as American trade is concerned.

Japan is next door to China and is determined to dominate it as a trade zone. It has spent some two billion dollars or more in the 15 months' conquest. So far, reports from the "front" indicate the net returns have been comparatively small because business does not thrive under the bayonet. But the methods Japan has adopted in the conquered territory cannot fail to destroy competition and leave virtually all export and import business in the hands of Japanese.

In his message to the Japan foreign minister, Ambassador Grew mentioned several devices. Foreign merchant ships are barred from operations on the lower Yangtze because of the "emergency." Japanese ships continue hauling goods up and down the river. But they refuse to haul American or other foreign goods.

In the Matter of Shipping.

AMBASSADOR GREW does not mention it, but reports had reached here earlier that American and other foreign goods were left standing on the railroad platform while Japanese goods were routed ahead. That has worked so well that interior merchants, unable to be sure they will get American goods, now save themselves disappointment and delay by ordering Japanese goods. It does not take much of that to ruin foreign shippers.

The same processes will operate as effectively in the rest of China once recently brought under Japanese sway. If Japan had no other explanation ready, it could insist for several years that "emergency" conditions continue to exist. By that time other foreign business men in China would be ruined and the competition gone.

Reaches to Banking, Too

JAPAN has set up its own export banks in the conquered territory. American and other exporters have to allow these banks such wide discounts that they cannot make their trade profitable.

The Japanese operators are allowed to pay smaller discounts and get the business. That sort of thing, Mr. Grew reports, already is going on.

Speaking for the United States government, Ambassador Grew has demanded that the "Open Door" of equal opportunity in China be preserved. If Japan refuses, will the United States go to war about? Will we retaliate by putting up barriers against shipment of Japanese goods to this country?

The immediate answer to those questions are already written. What may happen in two years, five or ten years, is yet to be written.

Loss of Howe's Influence Noted

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—There are a good many observers who are beginning to suspect that President Roosevelt is not as shrewd a political strategist as he was a few years back. They blame this on two factors. By far the more important is the fact that the President no longer has his famous "No Man" in Louis McHenry Howe. But also important is the fact that Jim Farley is almost disregarded so far as broad strategy is concerned.

Howe's tremendous value to the President cannot be exaggerated. Right up to the time of his death he never hesitated to cross his beloved chief. He could say things to him which no one else would dare to mention. A virtual lifetime of devotion, so unselfish and self effacing as to be classic, gave him this privilege. There is no doubt that he prevented Roosevelt from doing a great many things which would have been politically inexpedient. His wisdom was simply uncanny. His "feel" for a state situation was beyond belief. He was almost never fooled.

This does not mean that he always prevailed. For example in opposed to the utmost of his ability the trip Roosevelt made to the Pacific coast in the 1932 campaign. Howe knew that it was not necessary. He was against such a tremendous risk. He knew the possibility that Roosevelt, in a vigorous gesture, might actually fall down physically. This, Howe and most of Roosevelt's advisers feared as one of the worst "breaks" that could happen against them.

Not that it would prove anything so far as Roosevelt's ability to be President was concerned, but they were terribly afraid of the possibility that the public might come to believe Roosevelt was physically unable, because of his infantile paralysis, to cope with the strain the presidency would impose.

BUT this failure to deter Roosevelt was the exception, not the rule. Normally Howe's advice would prevail, especially as it was generally reinforced by Mrs. Roosevelt's judgment. The first lady having the most extraordinary respect for Howe's political judgment.

Observers are noticing that a "purge" would never have been attempted had Louis Howe been alive. This of course is pure conjecture, but it is based on knowledge on the part of men who knew Howe well. For Howe knew, in his whole life, supported a political move which turned out badly in the end. Incidentally it is common knowledge that Jim Farley did not approve the idea, but was unable to dissuade the president.

Conversation on this point of Roosevelt's political advice revived recently because of the president's intervention in the Pennsylvania situation, right after his blast at the Dies committee. In each case, observers believe, the president did neither himself nor his friends any political good.

AS FAR as the Dies committee is concerned, about everything that could have been done to make that committee's work ineffective had already been done by experts. It was not necessary for the president, those holding this view contend, to attack the committee so ponderously, and thus awaken distrust on the part of a great many of his followers out in the country whose only doubt about the president himself is a suspicion that he is too friendly to the extremely radical elements.

In the Pennsylvania case the president, it is pointed out, actually intervened to help Charles Alvin Jones, against whom Judge Arthur H. James is running for governor. But the president's letter of protest did not mention Jones's name. On the contrary, it did mention the name of George H. Earle, with approval. Yet no one in Washington believes Earle has a chance to win.

157 Kinds of Taxes.

The Tax Foundation has compiled a list of 157 kinds of taxes collected from the people of the United States. These taxes are levied by 51 governments—the federal government, the 48 states, the District of Columbia, and Alaska and Hawaii. The federal government collects 50 kinds of taxes, counting customs duties as one kind. The states collect 47 kinds, counting gasoline and tobacco taxes as one kind each. The cities collect 60 kinds of taxes, counting as one kind all taxes on the privilege of doing business. Counties collect 30 kinds of taxes. Townships collect 10 kinds.

Such a system is grossly unfair and it is difficult to see how it may be straightened out. Even if Congress should pass a law to prevent double taxation, the states would not be bound by it. Perhaps the only practical way to get relief is for the people to demand that their state legislatures reduce the number of taxes they levy. Even then it will be a long, hard job.—Toledo Blade.

Food Problem Pressing.

The most pressing of the migrant's health problems is food. They have been accustomed to eating the usual food of the share-cropper—pork, cornmeal, potatoes, with a few green vegetables and fruits, with little or no variety.

Examination of these migrants in California showed every general malnutrition. The children's food was lacking in vitamins and protective substances. Naturally, deficiency diseases were frequent, as well as emaciation.

Due, of course, primarily to the low economic status of the families, this condition was also partly the result of ignorance. The mothers of the families had never learned to cook anything but the monotonous routine foods, and were entirely ignorant of what a balanced diet should be.

The Farm Security administration and the California Department of Public Health have been educating them and furnishing them with food of a wide variety and teaching the cooks how to prepare it.

Hygiene Unknown.

Personal hygiene was almost unknown in this group. Toothbrushes were a curiosity. They would enter the state in motor cars and pitch camps along the back roads, living in tents, packing cases and tin can shelters. The Farm Security administration, a few years ago, began a camp building program and now there are seven of these camps. They have wooden platforms on which to pitch tents, water-flushed toilets, clean water supplies and facilities to dispose of garbage. In one camp, to my knowledge, 900 people were accommodated, most of them for the first time in their lives having a chance to take a shower bath.

When they get sick, the state furnishes hospital accommodations, and a field motor ambulance,

Nothing Can Hurt You . . . Unless You Let It.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

"There is nothing from without a man, that entering into him can defile him; but the things which come out of him, those are they that defile the man."

—The Bible . . . Mark 7:15.

THESE are hard days. Poisonous days. Days filled with an actual poison of doubt and hate and fear.

These are difficult and dangerous days for anyone to be fair. There is unrest everywhere. Not just in the streets . . . but in our hearts and heads.

Things have lost their meaning, their sanity. People have lost their purpose and their pride. Everyone and everything seems drifting . . . dissolving. Our life today is like one of those awful nightmares in which one falls and falls . . . plunging at nothingness . . . screaming into nothing . . . through a night without stars.

These are really bad days. They can easily disrupt and demoralize a sensitive spirit. You can see it happening. People losing their grip . . . giving up . . . taking the count . . . not caring what happens. Once public opinion would have restrained them . . . personal pride would have held them steady. But now both public opinion and personal pride seem to have gone by the board. It is easy to think that life is going to the dogs on days like these. Of course it isn't. If you will keep cool and think hard you will see that it isn't. But that's the trouble. It is so hard to keep cool . . . so hard not to give way to panic.

Perhaps it will help to remember this—NOTHING CAN HURT YOU UNLESS YOU LET IT HURT YOU. NOTHING CAN DEMORALIZE YOU UNLESS YOU LET IT DEMORALIZE YOU.

I'm not talking about the body—or physical accident or financial upheavals. I'm talking about that which lies deeper than the body . . . that which determines the issue of life and decides whether you will be happy or unhappy—YOUR OWN SPIRIT. As long as that spirit don't hurt, nothing can get you down. But if that spirit surrenders, anything can get you down.

That spirit is the most powerful thing in your life. It is the only powerful thing. The things that happen to you have no power in themselves except as your spirit gives them power. That is why one man can laugh off the sneer which wrecks another. One man decided he would be hurt. The other decided he wouldn't. One man gave the insult power . . . the other refused to do so.

NOTHING CAN HURT YOU UNLESS YOU GIVE IT POWER TO HURT YOU. Unpleasant things may happen all around you, but they can't happen TO you unless you let them happen.

Doubt can't harm you . . . threats can't harm you . . . viciousness, weakness, insecurity and hardship can't harm you, UNLESS YOU LET THEM.

It's all up to you. It's all IN you—the power to take or refuse.

This isn't part of any creed or cult. It's the simple truth which you demonstrate yourself a hundred times a day. I have said it in many clumsy words. The Bible says it in a few straight ones—

"There is nothing from without a man, that entering into him can defile him; but the things which come out of him, those are they that defile the man."

—The Bible . . . Mark 7:15.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There are many hilarious moments among the new crop of plays on Broadway, but the one that is getting the most prolonged chuckle is that scene in "Knights of Song" where Queen Victoria is debating the advisability of forming an alliance with Germany.

Her statesmen aren't sure Germany would make a desirable playmate for the empire, but Victoria thinks otherwise. "Germany is our natural ally," she argues, "she is never aggressive!" . . . I'll leave it to you to imagine the shout that greeted that one.

Later in the same play, which is devoted to 30 years of the careers of Gilbert and Sullivan, Gilbert is brooding over his increasing waistline . . . He doesn't want to become too fat . . . Oscar Wilde saunters in, and Wilde is inclined to obesity himself . . . "Oscar," chips Gilbert, "your success seems to have gone to your waistit."

There is no accounting for the things that will make audiences laugh—even the authors don't know beforehand—but here is a line that convulses the audience at "Abe Lincoln in Illinois."

In this scene the lumbering and gawky Lincoln is being told that a very charming young lady from Kentucky is interested in his career . . . Her name is Mary Todd . . . Says Abe: "The Todds of Kentucky are very aristocratic people . . . They spell their name with two d's . . . Which is amazing," drawls Lincoln, "considering God has always been able to get along with just one."

SIGNS of the times: Clergyman on the 7th Avenue express reading "My Son, My Son" . . . Our switchboard operator, between calls, reading "My Son, My Son" . . .

Eddie Duchin brooding over a breakfast of fried chicken and looking so sad you'd think the world was against him . . . Mike Jacobs, the promoter, hurling his cigar to the sidewalk in disgust . . . "That's the second time it's gone out on me—and it cost 35 cents" . . . What this country needs is a good five cent saga-a-a.

Question: Can anything be lonelier than the melancholy whistle of a freight train at night?

In my opinion, Robert Morley's impersonation of Wilde in "Oscar Wilde" is the finest single performance I have ever seen in the theater.

CATHERINE LITTLEFIELD thinks ballet will have to compete with the corner movie before it can establish itself in America for what it really is—entertainment.

Miss Littlefield is head of the Philadelphia ballet, and she is anxious to prove to audiences here, and all over the country, that ballet combines the best of poetry, music, painting, drama, and direction . . . It is as intriguing as fiction and as absorbing as fact.

In her opinion a successful male dancer must have the shoulders of a football player, the footwork of a tennis expert, the wind of a long distance runner, and the rugged health of an all-round athlete.

Her latest ballet is "Cafe Society," the music of which has been written by Ferde Grofe, composer of other such famous suites as "Grand Canyon," "Mississippi," "Metropolis," etc. It's premiere, with 45 dancers, will take place in Chicago. "This troup is my baby," she says, "and when baby needs shoes I have to buy 45 pair."

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

Why Is It "Mister."

That there should be anything in common between an august Roman public official, the ancient owner of a slave, a sovereign prince or feudal noble and our everyday moniker "Mister" would on the face of it seem incredible.

"Mister," then, ordinarily written Mr., a handle which by courtesy is attached to the name of a man or youth, was formerly "Master," which came to us through the French language, the French word in turn, deriving from the Latin magister.

The root of magister is magnus great, of which magister, a double comparative meaning something like "even greater" or "much greater," was a title conferred upon one who ruled, commanded, governed or set the law.

From this form sprang "Master," as the designation for a person who completely dominated the actions of another—a significance which with the passage of the centuries the word lost, becoming the garden variety "Mister" or Mr., except when used in connection with boys, in which case the old form still survives.

A Farmer's Diary

The Old Covered Bridge.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE STREAM along the valley road had cut deep into shelving rocks, making walls like masonry. The approach to the covered bridge was so high that I could not see through until I had traveled almost up the slope. No one was approaching: I rumbled across the bridge. At the other end, the road forked. I drove along the northern turn, and parked. Then I walked back to the wooden structure.

The roof was old and patched. The sun shone through the seamy shingles. The rafters were round, red and white oak poles. A huge arc of rough-hewn beams arched on each side, and rested on the abutment at either end. On this the structure hung.

The planks of the floor were worn by wagon wheels and hoofs of horses. The siding, once inch boards, was wasted by the elements to half its original thickness. It was the oldest bridge of this kind I had ever seen. Through an aperture where a piece of siding had fallen off, I saw an old, gray-bearded man, fishing. I retraced my steps and came up to him.

"Good day." I said. "Did you catch anything?"

"Yes—two, but the biggest one got away." He smiled and pointed to a stake where he had tied them.

"Do you know how old this bridge is?" I asked.

"I reckon it's more'n eighty. I'm eighty-two, and my father said it was built before I was born. Pap hewed them timbers with his own broad axe. It's mostly white oak from that hill over there. Timbers don't grow that good no more. He built two other bridges farther down, but they tore 'em down last year, and put in a fancy iron bridge for automobiles. I roofed this one a time or two, myself, and I nail on boards, and such. I hope it stands there till I'm gone.

Just then a heavily loaded farm wagon entered the bridge. I listened to the rhythmic hoof beats and the sound of wagon wheels upon the planks. It was music to the old man's ears—and mine. I hope the rustic bridge will be preserved.

NLRB HEARING AT GALION ENDS AFTER 9 DAYS

Ex-Employe, Claiming Unlawful Discharge, Back on Stand in Last Testimony.

GALION — After a nine-day hearing of unfair labor practice charges against the North Electric Manufacturing company of Galion before the NLRB, the hearing closed shortly after 4 p. m. Thursday. The public library auditorium where the hearing has been in session, was filled to capacity to hear final arguments in the case.

The final session opened shortly after 2 p. m. when Harry L. Lodish, attorney for the board, made objection to the admittance of a number of exhibits placed into the record by the respondent company. Trial Examiner Thomas S. Wilson admitted all exhibits excepting two.

Called to Stand.

After the respondent company rested its case, Lodish called Charles Pfleiderer to the stand. Pfleiderer was named in the complaint filed by the International Association of Machinists, Local 1151, as having been discharged because of union activity. Lodish presented Pfleiderer's diploma received for his apprenticeship in the machine shops of the New York Central railroad at Bucyrus in 1923. Pfleiderer was asked by Lodish to tell his story of leaving three former places of employment, to refute the testimony of three witnesses for the company. He said he left the Hydraulic Press company at Mt. Gilead when a better offer was received from the Burch corporation at Crestline. He said he left the Burch plant because he gave his position to a man who needed it more than he, Pfleiderer, needed it. He said, further, that he told his foreman at the Westinghouse plant, Mansfield, that he could not do a specific work there.

Clare Vrooman, counsel for the North Electric, at this point asked Pfleiderer if he broke a machine at the Burch plant. Pfleiderer said this was true, because the machine was not level.

Lodish then recalled George Wittibslager who had claimed he was demoted because he talked union organization, and who the company claimed was demoted because as an inspector he left defective work go through. He denied that his superior, C. J. Murphy, had ever shown him any piece of work that was improperly inspected.

Vrooman made a motion to dismiss the complaint against the company on a number of additional grounds. The motion was taken under advisement by the trial examiner.

BUCYRUS—Incorporation of a Bucyrus firm to be known as the Americus Furniture Industries, Inc., was announced today. Incorporators are William Wise, jr., Elmer A. McAdams and Charles E. Wiles, jr. The company, which will be located at 111½ South Poplar street, was incorporated under a total authorized capital of 250 shares of common stock, no par value.

A TRIPLE FALL

Fireman Drops, Hits Another and Another In Plunge.

TOLEDO—(INS)—Three firemen here were victims of a triple fall at a $50,000 fire. Fireman Casper Kujawa started it when he was knocked off a roof by a flailing hose line. He fell 20 feet to an adjoining roof. When he landed he hit Stephen Tyburski who, in turn, fell 15 feet off his ladder and landed on Robert Fitzjohn. None of the three was injured seriously.

UNEMPLOYMENT OFFICE RENTED

Mansfield Headquarters to Be Located at Third, Diamond; Lease to Follow.

The Ohio Unemployment Compensation commission, preparing to set up district offices throughout the state, today had leased the building at 50 North Diamond street, formerly occupied by the Foltz Hardware company.

The property held by the Mansfield Building and Loan association was obtained under a rental agreement of $150 a month from Nov. 15 to Jan. 1, 1939, when a two-year lease becomes effective under the same contract rate.

The office is expected to be opened here as soon after Nov. 15 as the staff can be chosen from among the civil service eligibles who competed in the state-wide examinations which closed yesterday.

Director Fred L. Biechele of the Unemployment commission in Columbus today said that he would announce, "probably next week" the personnel to be assigned to the Mansfield district office.

In Mansfield the unemployment compensation commission now covers 1,900 persons.

The Mansfield office rental rate was comparable with the rental agreements announced today for more than half of the new district offices obtained throughout the state by the commission.

The highest rental rate was paid at Cincinnati where a $700 a month agreement was entered into, while the lowest contract was obtained at Mt. Vernon, at $45 a month.

GET 3 YEARS

Mansfielder Found Guilty of Passing Counterfeit Money.

Christ Uzunoff, 48, one of three Mansfield men arrested by police here nearly two months ago was sentenced to three years in federal prison by Federal Judge Paul Jones at Cleveland today on charges of passing counterfeit $10 bills.

John Scoff and Nick Angeloff who were indicted by the federal grand jury in Cleveland on Oct. 28 on eight counts of possessing and passing counterfeit $10 bills are to be sentenced later.

Uzunoff testified before the court that he "found the bills in bundles" on a Mansfield street.

The trio was arrested here Sept. 11 after several of the spurious notes were reported by merchants.

GALION WIDOW STRICKEN AT 97

Mrs. Josephine R. Dietrich to Be Buried Saturday; Lived In City 65 Years.

GALION—Funeral services for Mrs. Josephine R. Dietrich, 97, one of Galion's oldest and most prominent citizens, will be held Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at the Snyder funeral home. Rev. W. N. Robertson, pastor of the First Methodist church, will officiate.

Mrs. Dietrich died Thursday afternoon at her home, 233 South Boston street. She had been seriously ill since Sunday, complications causing her death. She was the last of 13 children.

The deceased was born in Shippensburg, Pa., Aug. 2, 1841, the daughter of Samuel and Margaret Boher. Her marriage was to George J. Dietrich in 1858, and he died in March, 1904. Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich came to Galion 65 years ago from Harrisburg, Pa., and Mr. Dietrich was one of Galion's pioneer hardware merchants, establishing his business here.

Mrs. Dietrich was a member of the First Methodist church.

BUCYRUS — The appointment of Margaret Rose Elberson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Elberson, to the post of clerk of the water office, was announced today by the Service Director C. I. McNeal. Miss Elberson succeeds her father, who resigned effective Nov. 1.

North Carolinians plan to plant 75,000 black walnut trees to increase the state's supply of fine cabinet wood.

DELINQUENCY HEARING MAPPED FOR TOBACCO-CHEWING WIFE, 12

(By Associated Press)

ASHLAND, Ky.—Ruth 'Peachy' Whitt Howard, shown by school records to be only 12 years old, is to appear before County Judge George G. Bell at nearby Catlettsburg tomorrow on delinquency charges growing out of her Ironton, O., marriage last April to 60-year-old Wilbur Howard.

The illiterate husband, unable either to read or write, is at liberty under $1,000 bond in the delinquency action. He is scheduled to have a preliminary hearing next Wednesday.

Ruth, with hair cut so short it stands bristle-like, her childish face coated with rouge and lipsticky, protested that she was 14, the minimum age at which a girl may marry under Kentucky law.

Boyd County Attorney Clayton Smoot said the girl's school records here gave the date of her birth as Dec. 23, 1925, and indicated she never had advanced beyond the first grade.

At a preliminary hearing in Ruth's case yesterday, Probate Judge Helen P. Clark of Lawrence county, Ohio, said Justice of the Peace James Cannon, WPA worker, married the couple at Ironton the day they obtained a license. She said Ruth's mother accompanied her daughter to Ohio and gave her age as 16, though in Ohio the marriageable age is 18.

Authorities investigated the marriage after Howard obtained a warrant for a man he charged with detention of Ruth against her will. Howard said his young wife had left him three weeks before and that he had trailed her through southern Ohio and returned her to his home.

Ruth, who chews tobacco, has the mentality of a five-year-old child, the county attorney said school authorities told him.

HOLMES COUNTY VOTERS DECIDE 1 RACE, ISSUES

Democrats Expect Victory in Quiet County Campaign; 3 Officers Unopposed.

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of stories summarizing the political campaigns in counties in the immediate Richland county area.)

MILLERSBURG — Barring an always possible upset, traditionally Democratic Holmes county is expected to repeat next Tuesday with vote majorities going in the Democratic column.

Interest in the election here centers about the state and national tickets mostly since there is but one county contest. Several local issues are also receiving a large share of attention.

In the only county contest, A. Lee Fair is seeking re-election as state representative. Fair is a Democrat and his Republican opponent is D. P. Alderman.

Vie For Senator.

A state senatorial race is on in the district with Walter G. Nichols, Republican, seeking to wrest the office from W. F. Garver, Democratic incumbent.

There are no Republican candidates opposing Ruby Walter as county treasurer, Clifford C. Lower as county commissioner and H. E. Gray as county auditor. All are Democrats.

A county-wide Democratic rally last night in the Opera House here cleared the county slate of large political meetings for the current campaign.

Talking at the meeting last night were Judge R. N. Gorman, candidate for supreme court judge; and Stark county Prosecuting Attorney A. C. Barthelmew.

Local issues to be voted upon in the county include:

Bond issue for $5,000 for the Nashville school district for building repairs; a levy of .81 mills; a 1½ mill levy for the operation of Glenmont rural schools; and local option votes in Kilbuck village, Nashville village, Knox township and Richland township exclusive of Glenmont.

BUCYRUS—Mr. and Mrs. Addison G. Smith quietly observed their 55th wedding anniversary at the home on South East street, Thursday. Mr. Smith operates a real estate brokerage agency.

FUNERAL SET

GALION—Last rites for Cleo J. Armstrong, 28, will be held here Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at the Volk funeral home. Rev. J. J. Adams of the Iberia Methodist church will officiate. Burial will be made in Fairview cemetery.

Besides the widow, the former Isabelle Bishop, and three small sons, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. John Maglott of Mansfield and Mrs. Harold Foos of Galion, and his father, Ulysses J. Y. Armstrong.

He was a native of Butler.

RETURN FROM P. T. A. PARLEY

Part of City's Delegates to State Convention Join in Concert Today.

A part of the 60 delegates from Mansfield who attended opening sessons of the 33rd annual convention of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers in Columbus yesterday, returned home last night while others remained to take part in closing sessions today.

Among those to remain in Columbus are members of the Hedges and Newman school Mothersingers who are scheduled to sing with the state Mothersingers in a concert this afternoon, directed by Prof. Rexford Kellar, head of the music department at Ohio Wesleyan university.

Eight of the Mansfield delegates took part in various sessions of the convention yesterday. Mrs. F. D. Boals, president of the Mansfield council, told of the social hygiene work here, and R. Y. Davis, teacher at Hedges school, gave a report of that school's membership was raised from 20 to 360.

Panel discussions at a meeting of the North Central district, of which Mansfield is a part, were led by Mrs. J. B. Weigel, Mrs. Milo Hieber, Mrs. D. O. Meese, Mrs. C. H. Bell and Roy McGinty.

A banquet for all delegates was held last night at the Deshler-Wallick hotel. More than 2,000 delegates are attending the convention.

Nine officers were elected at today's session; among them were O. E. Hill, superintendent of Galion schools, who was chosen fifth vice president.

CUT-OFF PAVING PROJECT TO BE OPENED DEC. 1

Weather Speeds Up Work on Route 42 Job, Half Mile to Be Left Until Spring.

Ideal weather this fall has speeded up work on the Windsor cut-off on route 42 northeast of Mansfield so that all but a half mile of the project will be completed and the highway opened to traffic by Dec. 1, Boyd Wierman, resident state highway engineer in Richland county, said today.

Workers have finished the Ashland county portion of the project and will be able to pave 1,000 feet more in Richland county than was originally planned, Wierman added.

Use Brick and Concrete.

The $251,000 project calls for paving of 3.59 miles of the route with concrete slab and brick. The Richland county portion, which includes more than half of the project, will be paved with brick on a concrete base. Only concrete was used on the Ashland county end.

Under the original plan, nearly a mile of the Richland county end was to be left until next spring in order to avoid one-way traffic over that section of the highway during the winter.

The part to be paved in the spring will not be torn up, permitting use of the old and new paving together throughout the winter, Wierman added.

The new route will shorten the distance between Mansfield and Ashland and eliminate a number of dangerous curves at Windsor.

STEEL OUTPUT RISES 3 POINTS

Youngstown Operations To Climb To 66 Per Cent.

YOUNGSTOWN —(AP)— Youngstown district steel operations will advance three points to 66 per cent of capacity next week with improved production by Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co.

Sheet & Tube is ready to blow in another blast furnace, probably next week, to replenish its dwindling pig iron stock.

Fifty-seven of the district's 83 open hearths and all three Bessemers will be active next week, preliminary schedules indicate.

BOY ASKS TO GO TO JAIL AND GIRL SHUNS CALIFORNIA TRIP!

"You never can tell what youth will do," Probate Judge C. J. Anderson mused today after a 16-year-old boy asked him to be sent to the reformatory and a 17-year-old girl told him she ran away from home to avoid a trip to California so she could stay in Mansfield with her boy friend.

Judge Anderson ordered the girl sent to the Girls' Industrial school at Delaware as an incorrigible, but the youth, who admitted the theft of an automobile in Mansfield, was held in the county jail pending instructions from relatives in Minneapolis.

"They are two of the most unusual cases the court has ever had at one time," Judge Anderson said. "Usually a boy will go to almost any end to stay out of a penal institution, and most girls will jump at the chance to go on a long trip."

The youth, whose parents live in Minneapolis, asked that he be sent "where I belong, and please don't tell my folks anything about it." He had been staying with an uncle near Mansfield and stole the automobile on Halloween, he related in court. The car was recovered in the city.

Judge Anderson said he had previously warned the girl to stay away from the youth she didn't want to leave. Her parents told the court they "couldn't do anything with her."

Service Units to March In Body to Church Services

War veterans of Mansfield and their affiliated organizations will meet at their quarters and proceed in a body to First Lutheran church Sunday night where the annual Armistice Sunday religious service will be held.

One of the impressive features will be the roll call of the veteran dead who have died since last Armistice day. There are two Grand Army men, two Spanish war veterans and three World war veterans. The roll call will be made by Walter L. Beckley, commander of the American Legion, McVey post.

Special honor will be paid to any of the G. A. R. men who are able to be present. There are only five of them living in Mansfield—George A. Fisher, Christopher Frye, W. R. Tingley, T. J. Shocker and William B. Hammett.

A chorus of 100 voices under the direction of L. A. Cook will provide music for the occasion, and Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, chaplain of McVey post, will deliver the sermon on "For God and Country." Adjutant David Brown of the Salvation Army will take part in the religious service.

SAWYER vs. BRICKER

The following Editorial appeared in the Democratic Cincinnati Enquirer the home of Charles Sawyer as of Nov. 2, 1938.

THE GOVERNORSHIP

Editorial From Cincinnati Enquirer Nov. 2, 1938

Election of Charles Sawyer, if he be elected to the office of Governor of Ohio, will be widely and loudly proclaimed a New Deal victory. It will be acclaimed by Mr. Roosevelt and his satellites as an unmistakable mandate from the voters of Ohio to prosecute with renewed zeal and vigor his plans for a socialized nation controlled and motivated by himself.

There are at stake in the election to be held November 8, vastly more important and vital issues than the mere election of a Governor. Perpetuation of the American system under the Constitution is transcendently more important. Preservation of the rights and liberties of the people of the United States unhampered and unthrottled by regimentation and bureaucratic control is infinitely more important. Whether the candidate who shall be elected Governor is in or out of sympathy with the heretical and destructive policies that have marked the course of the present national administration is a matter of gravest concern and of consummate importance.

It is regrettable that Mr. Sawyer has not made known his attitude on the attempted rape of the Supreme Court of the United States; that he has not expressed approval or disapproval of a government reorganization plan that would confide dictatorial and irrevocable power to one man, the President of the United States. It is not understandable that he has expressed no opinion on the administrative policy of Mr. Roosevelt to expand the national debt to astronomical proportions, and that he has failed to indicate whether he believes in private initiative, individual enterprise, or in governmental ownership, control and operation.

It is not an answer to say that Mr. Sawyer is making a campaign on state issues for a state office. Affairs of the states are already inextricably entangled with the Federal Government, whose apparent purpose it is to destroy their sovereignty and to control and direct them as satrapies. It is a matter of common knowledge that Mr. Roosevelt has indicated to the people of New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan and other states the men whom he desires the voters to select as Governor and, moreover, is applying adroit pressure to achieve obedience and compliance.

Until now the heavy artillery of the New Dealers has not been trained on Ohio. Probably it will not be employed. If it were, it might divert attention from present state issues and center them upon increasingly obnoxious national policy.

Because it adheres to the philosophy of Thomas Jefferson and not that of Karl Marx, because it is devoted to perpetuation of the soundest form of self-government the world has ever known, The Enquirer, historically and traditionally Democratic, can not endorse the candidacy of Mr. Sawyer. Although a man of high character in all his personal relations, and capable withal, The Enquirer believes that his election would be construed to be an endorsement by the liberty-loving people of Ohio of a regime that is shattering, and will ultimately destroy, unless checked, the very foundations of our free institutions. It therefore commends to the electorate John W. Bricker, whose stalwart Americanism far outweighs his partisan affiliation.—Editorial.

Holds Statesmen Talk Peace But Feel Sure That War's Inevitable

Knickerbocker Says Hitler Will Make More and More Demands Until Intolerable Situation Exists; Learns Chances For Peace Are One In Ten Now.

(Editor's Note: H. R. Knickerbocker, roving reporter for International News Service, in the fifth of a series of articles evaluating results of the Munich accord today predicts that during the present truce with Germany neither Britain nor France may be able to catch up with the superior military position of the third reich.)

* * * * *

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
(INS Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—The arms race has now entered the last desperate phase, but the grim prospect looms today before Britain and France that they may never be able during the present truce to catch up with the superior military position Germany won at Munich. That is the essential reason for the despair which has gripped the hearts of the British and French people.

Perhaps the most valuable contribution to American knowledge of the international situation which can be made by a foreign correspondent returning home is to report the fact that the present governments of Britain and France privately are convinced, contrary to every public statement they make, that the war is now inevitable, that Hitler is going to make more and more demands until they become intolerable, and that when the war is fought it will be on terms far worse than the war avoided at Munich.

This should be the guide line for Americans to remember as they read the public statements coming out of Europe today. It is almost literally the case that you can discover what an allied statesman in office today really thinks by taking the exact opposite of what he publicly says.

If he says "there will be peace," it means "there will be war." If he says, "it is absurd to think the democracies cannot live in the same world with the dictatorships," it means "I know the dictatorships mean our destruction and one of us must go under."

The only justification for such an analysis of the public utterances of Europe's spokesmen is personal experience and knowledge of their private opinions. Here is what one of the most respected, intelligent and honest of Europe's statesmen, for a long time head of his country, told me in private.

Must Be Optimistic.

"We have all got to be optimists. It is immoral to despair. We cannot admit to the public that war is inevitable. To do so would only speed its coming, and aid the defeatists who want to give the dictators literally everything. But actually I cannot see any better chances than one in ten of keeping the peace now. Before Munich the chances were at least even.

"For let us see what the hope of making peace is. What is the program? It is the hope that Britain, during the negotiations with Germany over the colonies, will demand from Hitler a full settlement. That means, Britain will offer to give the colonies back if Hitler will make an honest statement of all he wants, and an honest promise that, having gotten it, he will not demand any more.

"It would be worth giving him the colonies if you could get him to make such a settlement. He may even agree to it. But Britain will this time have to demand that he give guarantees for keeping the settlement. These guarantees will be first disarmament, of course by all sides, and not necessarily total disarmament, but say of offensive weapons, and second the dissolution of the Berlin-Rome axis. This sort of program is what Chamberlain is hoping for, and if it were to go through, it would justify perhaps the Munich settlement. But with the best of will I cannot see it happening. Well, give it one in ten.

Must Go Outside.

"Of course," went on the statesman, "you must remember one thing which may prove decisively important. It is that Hitler, now that he has absorbed the Germans of the Sudetenland, will for the first time have to go outside of his racial state if he wants to expand any further eastward, into Hungary and Rumania. This is the point where we will see whether he means it or not when he says he does not wish to have any but Germans within the reich.

"If he does go beyond his German racial frontiers it will certainly bring stronger resistance than he has ever suffered before. It may have the effect of uniting the small countries against him in spite of their tendency now, through fear, to bow to his will."

There are three main causes for the collapse of the allies at Munich, and each contributes to an understanding of what is now to come. They were:

First, the conviction of the governments of both France and England that, even though they won the war, revolution would come in the victorious as well as the vanquished nations, and the end would be anarchy or bolshevism. This feeling was even stronger in France than in England.

Patriotism Wins Out.

French friends of mine have told me "rather have Hitler run France than Leon Blum." Yet on mobilization day these same Frenchmen willingly joined the colors. Their national patriotism conquered their class consciousness. Only in the higher governmental circles did class loyalty prevail over national loyalty.

The second cause of the Munich collapse was the desire of the governments of England and of France, (despite the Franco-Soviet pact made by a previous government and now a dead letter), to see the whole European problem solved by allowing Nazi Germany to fight it out with Bolshevik Russia, Hitler against Stalin, while the western world looks safely on. Now that Chamberlain and Daladier have agreed on this solution, the only question is whether Hitler agrees.

It would coincide with the grand strategy of the Nazis to get at the rich Ukraine and colonize it. Yet as the possibility of a German-Soviet war grows nearer, the contrary possibility also grows, and more and more frequently in Europe responsible statesmen privately discuss with profound anxiety the chances of Hitler and Stalin making partnership. What, it is asked, would Chamberlain say if Hitler, having mastered Rumania, should pause at the Black Sea, and instead of turning to Odessa, turn to Haifa, Bagdad, Teheran, Kabul, the Kyber, and so on down through vast India, an infinitely richer prize than the Ukraine?

It is not too fantastic an idea to have engaged the serious attention of the most serious men on the continent of Europe. Why did France make a pact with the Soviet Union? Primarily to prevent Germany from doing so. What was the meaning of Hitler's desperate concentration on destroying the Czecho-Soviet pact, and therewith the Franco-Soviet pact, now practically annulled? One meaning was that Munich gave him the opportunity which he never had before of making his own arrangements with the Soviet Union, now disappointed and angry with her former allies.

The gain for Germany would be obvious and enormous. What combination of powers could stand against a Germany backed by the natural resources of the Soviet Union?

The gains for Russia would be equally great. Guaranteed by Germany against attack in the west, the Soviet Union could then turn confidently to meet and perhaps destroy the growing power of Japan which, since its nearly completed conquest of China, has become more than ever a vital threat to Russia.

Third cause of the Munich collapse was the British and French military unpreparedness, and the fear of air bombardment. Deliberately the Paris and London authorities fostered the panic belief that the Germans had 10,000 bombers and intended to start the war by the famous "knock-out blow" at the civilian populations. It is now officially announced in Germany that their total first-line planes, counting bombers and fighters, number 3,000.

The French, at the moment of crisis, discovered with horror that their airplane production was actually around thirty a month, compared to Germany's 600. The former French Air Minister Pierre Cot, revealed that the Germans and Italians together are now producing thrice the number of war planes of the British and French.

Since Munich, Hitler and his authorized spokesmen have exultantly and contemptuously emphasized to the allies that Germany intends to keep at least the ratio of advantage she now possesses. As M. De Kerillis, the ring wing deputy, picturesquely puts it, "what Herr Hitler means to say is this: 'You British and French fools who tremblingly handed over to me the fortress of Czechoslovakia, did you really imagine that I was going to leave you alone so that you could rebuild Britain and France, train millions of soldiers and manufacture new tanks and airplanes?

"'I command that henceforward things shall remain as they are. I have got ahead of you and I forbid you to try to catch me up. No conscription in Britain, if you please! And France, you must continue to produce your 30 airplanes a month.

"'When I took Czechoslovakia, I got you where I wanted you. Now you can stay there!'"

Hunting Trouble? Then Just Try to Give Away Money

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.—(AP)—Don Hoover, executive secretary of the Oklahoma City Dairy council, almost went to jail for trying to give away money.

He was assigned by the council to give 600 one dollar bills to 600 housewives. His job was to call at homes, inquire if the lady of the house had a bottle of buttermilk in the ice box and if she did to hand her a $1 bill. The idea was to stimulate buttermilk sales.

Hoover reported that a number of housewives rejected the dollar with the statement "there must be a catch to it." But one slammed the door in his face.

When Hoover was several houses away, the police radio patrol car drew up to the curb and two officers stepped out to question him. The woman down the street had reported there was "a crazy man on my porch."

AFRAID TO MARRY + + +

By HELEN WELSHIMER

(Copyright, 1938)

CHAPTER 37.

BOB AND Marjorie had been gone for an hour when Ronald telephoned. The spring tone of the air had yielded to rain and great drops were falling rhythmically on the dormer windows. Judy was certain that it would be Ronald's voice that would say "Judy?" when she picked up the phone.

"I wanted to wait for you," he said, "but I had an engagement uptown. Some day maybe I can show you how grateful I was for your trust and hospitality tonight."

"You've shown me long before this how important faith is," Judy answered. "Was everything all right? Did your—visitor find his way up the mountainside to the fourth floor?"

Ronald hesitated. "He didn't come."

"Oh, I'm sorry."

"It doesn't matter. Maybe it's better."

Judy spoke quickly. "Ronald, isn't there any way that I can help? I'm not afraid, you know."

"Just keep on believing in me, won't you Judy? That counts most." His voice was troubled.

"Ronald, your friends are with you en masse. You know that!" She emphasized her words to force them into his consciousness.

"If you are, I won't miss those who are dropping out," he answered.

He did not ask her to meet him for lunch. There was no suggestion of dinner. Alone in the quiet room, with the dead telephone in her hand, Judy felt a heart-sick pang because she had refused his invitation that day he was so tired. But there had been Abbey—Where was she now? How was she taking this?

Ronald's flowers came in the morning. There was a cool green box, and in the green misty paper within there were old-fashioned flowers — marigolds, jonquils, pinks, pansies, violets and yellow roses. There were enough for a low vase and two bowls.

Sorting them, before she drank her fruit juice and coffee, Judy remembered that Bob's flowers had stopped. She stood still, hands filled with blossoms, trying to remember when last that small red box had made its morning appearance. Until now she had not missed it.

You could let one man glide out of your life and never know his ship was speeding down the harbor until someone told you about it. Yet, if another man turned a corner—oh, any corner—and walked a block out of your path, you knew it and your heart trailed him feverishly.

What was love? Was it only chemistry, a divine chemistry, that made one person infinitely dear?

The clock was striking 8:30 and she was due at 9, so she hurried. She would call Ronald later and thank him for the flowers.

But it was late afternoon when she did. Ronald was not in. He would call her, the secretary said. She asked Judy to wait a moment, and presently the warm tones of Mr. Heaton came flowing across the wire.

"Judy, your father is anxious to have an interview with you," he explained. "Could you make it at my office some time tomorrow?"

"Is it important?" Judy asked. "Couldn't he write me?"

"Judy, you mustn't be too hard on him. He's had a great worry on his shoulders. He's done a monumental feat in making such a swift comeback. You have a father of whom to be proud."

A father who gave my governesses checks to buy me dolls that could walk and dolls that could talk; a father who sent me to the best schools and camps but never once took me hiking because he liked being with me; no, that wasn't quite fair. Before Sarita had come along, when she was only six and seven, he had taken her fishing and told her stories.

After that he had changed. Oh, a woman could do a great deal to a man, especially a man who was not strong enough to follow the way he charted when his eyes were wide and his path clear!

She might have weakened but Mr. Heaton was saying:

"People are talking, Judy. They wonder why you have broken your relations with your parents. Your father is deeply hurt. Sarita is being censured, and that pains your father greatly."

Not, am I lonely? Am I hurt? Sarita is being censured. The moment was gone. Mr. Heaton had lost his cause with his own last argument. Judy smiled a little. Not a happy smile. Not a young smile. An old tragic, cynical lifting of the lips. Mr. Heaton was a lawyer. He should have known better than to overplead his case.

"Won't you tell my father that I'm well and happy and fairly successful? I appreciate his interest—but I mustn't trouble him."

She hung up.

Judy had been able to obtain a job for Coralee Myers in the fitting department. Coralee, deeply grateful, came by as Judy sat at the desk.

"Miss Rogers, are you ill?" she asked quickly.

"No, I'm fine. I was just thinking how nice it must be to have a family." She smiled wanly.

Coralee hesitated. "You've always said you wanted to meet mine. Would you come out some night for dinner?"

"I'd love to. How soon?"

"Tomorrow night?"

"I'll be waiting for it to be tomorrow."

Coralee hesitated. "Our house is poor, you know. My father has a queer kind of job. He can do it at home while his leg heals. He's a penman. I mean he does fancy writing for diplomas and things for some company." She was apologetic and proud both.

"That's splendid," Judy said gently. Men who couldn't make an intelligible scrawl, but who had gone through a process of training to achieve that scrawl, wrote their names on limitless checks. Coralee's father could cross his t's and round his o's and had no papers of his own on which to put the perfect copy.

In a burst of sympathey for Coralee Judy went shopping when she left the studio. She knew how many small children there were in that New Jersey household.

She bought a yellow sweater, two strands of beads, some dolls and an electric train and a box of candy. She asked to have the packages delivered to the studio the next day as she could go directly home from work with Coralee. But on the subway she remembered that the poor are proud.

The Myers family was offering its hospitality, graciously and happily. If she came with her arms filled with largesse which could not be repaid with a pork chop and a baked potato, they would be hurt.

There was no way to explain to them that they were giving her more than she brought them. That they let her share a home, that they taught her that families did live together. She would take the candy to them, and cancel the rest of the order.

Some friends had invited Judy to join them at the theater that evening, and she was nearly ready when her doorbell rang.

Thinking that the people were early, she went to the button which released the door. The bell rang again. Apparently the latch had not released. She pressed hard, and went into the hall to look down but behind her came the insistent ringing.

Oh, of course! She was stupid. They were waiting for her to talk through the speaking tube, something she seldom did. She said: "Yes?"

A strange masculine voice answered: "Is Ronald Birrell there?"

Before she could answer, the voice came more quickly: "Is this Abbey Boland?"

HOLDS BUSINESS FUTURE BETTER

U. S. Bureau Says 1939 to See Industry, Farm Improvement.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The bureau of agricultural economics predicted today that business would be better for farmers and industrialists next year, but it said farm prices may not rise much.

The bureau, in an annual report on demand and prices for agricultural products, asserted general economic conditions in the United States "are most favorable to recovery." Even so, it added, prospects for next year were not quite so good as in 1937.

The bureau forecast domestic demand for products of the farm probably would be greater and farmers would use a greater volume of short-term credit in 1939 than this year.

National Parks To Be Improved By WPA Grants

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The National park service is putting some of the new recovery money to work to develop model recreation areas for the vacationing public.

High on a list of 87 projects to be financed by $5,812,823 allotted by the Public Works Administration are "demonstration" developments at Mendocino Woodlands in California, Lake of the Ozarks in Missouri and Lake Winemac in Indiana. Dams, cabins, playgrounds and trails will be built.

Other projects to be financed by the grant include reconstruction of the famous old Derby Wharf at Salem, Mass., extension of the wildlife research bureaus in Washington and San Francisco and improvements at Mt. Ranier, Glacier and Yellow National parks.

The money also will permit continuation this fall of a series of broadcasts, "America's Hours of Destiny," relating exciting stories of the national parks.

Marx Withdraws Last of Guardsmen From Middletown

EMPLOYES GO BACK TO WORK FOR 2ND DAY

Back-to-Work March Without Incident; Payday Arrives for Needy Workmen.

(By Associated Press)

MIDDLETOWN — Adj. Gen. Emil F. Marx said he planned to withdraw today a skeleton unit of 70 national guardsmen who kept watch after employes of the P. Lorillard company, strike-bound a month, returned for their second day's work.

The unit was retained when Marx ordered home last night the remainder of 500 troops sent here Wednesday night by Gov. Martin L. Davey to "preserve law and order" during re-opening of the plant.

Members of the CIO-affiliated Pioneer Tobacco Workers union voted to withdraw their pickets and return to their jobs after the troops were ordered, a yesterday's back-to-work march saw employes enter without incident. The union struck Oct. 3 for a closed shop and a dues check-off system.

"Attitude Splendid."

E. P. Harpring, plant manager, said today that "the attitude of all the employes has been splendid since their return.

"There has been no indication of enmity and they seem to be as glad to get back as we are to have them," he added. Harpring said that employes in need of money would be paid tomorrow, instead of next Friday as originally announced.

The troop order renewed Davey's feud with John L. Lewis, CIO chieftain, the governor asserting "the surrender x x x at Middletown temporary though it may be, proves that he (Lewis) cannot operate when the state government stands for law and order."

John Owens, president of the CIO's Ohio industrial council, declared the troop assignment was "the most inexcusable of many vicious acts by Governor Davey during his term in office."

Harpring announced that in an effort to clean up unfilled orders, the plant would operate Saturday day and night shifts. It usually has been idle on Saturdays as well as Sundays.

Homefolk Gather At Memorial For Humorist Rogers

CLAREMORE, Okla.—(AP)—The homefolk who knew Will Rogers when he was a kid cowpoke and celebrities who knew him as a national figure joined in common tribute here today at the dedication of Oklahoma's memorial to her most famous son on the 59th anniversary of his birth.

Thousands of admirers of the humorist pressed upon Claremore to attend the services at the $200,000 Will Rogers memorial museum atop a knoll overlooking Claremore, on which he had dreamed of building a permanent home.

From Hyde Park to the west coast, the nation took part in the tribute to the drawling comedian loved for his dry wit. President Roosevelt, scheduled to broadcast from Hyde Park at 2 p. m. (CST), headed the list of speakers.

The Rogers family had come home, the widow, Mrs. Betty Rogers; the two sons, Bill and Jimmy, and the daughter, Mary. Mrs. Rogers gave the memorial's 17-acre hilltop site to the state.

EXPENDITURES TWICE RECEIPTS

General fund expenditures for the month were $22,557 as compared with receipts of $11,450. Bonds amounting to $27,667 were paid off, leaving a balance of $59,939 in the bond retirement fund.

The county held $496,887 in undivided real estate taxes and $45,033 in inheritance taxes.

Henry Bachus, farmer southeast of Mansfield, wondered today if the November "heat wave" had taken the public mind off the problem of providing fuel for the coming winter. A public invitation to persons on relief to cut wood on his farm brought only two replies, Bachus said. He offered to give relief families the wood they cut provided they cleaned up the debris in a 50-acre woodlot on his farm on the South Diamond street road.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates wasn't prepared for the surprise he received yesterday when he opened a letter from the Maryland state welfare board. For in it was a $20 check as a reward for the capture of two fugitives here last month from a Maryland penal farm. Half of the reward will go to E. J. White, Pennsylvania railroad detective who picked up the two youths for train riding, and the balance will go into the Police Pension fund, Bates said.

Six miles from where it was stolen and on top of a market building—that's where Deputy Sheriff Glenn Freeman found a buggy that was reported missing several days ago by Mrs. Emery Hooes, who lives southwest of Mansfield. The buggy, third taken from the Hooes farm in three years, was pulled to Orchard Park by Halloweeners and hoisted to the roof of a fruit market.

Add to the reasons the postoffice department doesn't make any money: Those eleven letters (that's right, eleven) mailed (without postage charge, of course) to various members of The News-Journal editorial staff by WPA and NYA, praising WPA achievements in Ohio four days before the election.

And today—eight more letters, all containing "extensions" of remarks of Senator Lewis Schwellenbach of Washington, singing the praises of WPA.

'FULL HOUSE'

Enlarged Ritz Theater Opens; Film Executives Here.

A flood of telegrams, flowers and visiting theater and film men were a part of the opening last night of the new Ritz theater. The theater, completely rebuilt and decorated, with all new sound equipment, was opened by Manager Sol Bernstein after having been closed for several weeks. The opening drew a full house.

The foyer was filled with baskets of flowers from friends and film companies. Among the theater people who came to Mansfield for the opening were Ben Schwartz, formerly manager of the Ohio theater here and now manager of Warner's Ohio in Canton, and Harry Reinhart, operator of several theaters in Canton, and Mrs. Reinhart. There were also representatives from most of the major film companies.

Pictures shown at the opening were "Judge Hardy's Children" and "Kidnaped."

'BEAUTY PROOF' JURORS FIND SALLY RAND GUILTY OF ASSAULT

(By International News Service)

LOS ANGELES—With the score one and one, Sally Rand today was ready to continue the celebrated candid camera battle which began when she objected to being snapped from angles where her fan and bubble weren't wholly effective.

Sally won the first encounter last summer in the lobby of the Paramount theater when she left the stage and forcibly took the roll of offending film from Roy Stanford. But a "shock and beauty proof" jury of nine middle-aged women and three grey-haired men threw the demure, blond dancer for a loss yesterday when, after four hours' deliberation, they found her guilty of two counts of battery on the persons of Stanford and his girl friend, Hazel Drain.

With the jail house looming in the background for a total of 360 days if she receives the maximum term on each count, Miss Rand is to reappear in court Monday for sentencing.

At that time her lawyer was formally to move for a new trial.

"We will appeal if a new trial is denied," declared Sally.

"I've already spent a lot of time and money defending this case," the famous fan and bubble manipulator continued, "and I'm willing to spend a lot more in an effort to establish a legal precedent for the right of a personality to enjoy the same privacy as the average citizen."

That statement was right down Judge Ballerich's alley. Declaring that in the blond dancer's case "there can be no privacy in that which is already public," the jurist continued in his instructions to the jury.

"You are instructed that the right of privacy does not exist where a person has become so prominent that by his prominence he has dedicated his life to the public."

Such a personality may protest the taking of a photograph, the judge added, but must not use force or violence.

Miss Rand denied striking the couple.

MRS. LOVE DIES

Shelby Resident for 48 Years Stricken in Crestline.

SHELBY—Mrs. Jennie Love, 76, a resident of Shelby for 49 years, died Thursday night at the home of a son, Charles, in Crestline, following a lingering illness.

Born June 6, 1862, in England, Mrs. Love came to the United States when 25, and made her home in Shelby until a year ago when she went to Crestline. She was a member of the Knights and Ladies of Security of the Shelby Episcopal church.

Surviving are six sons, George, Jack and Harper of Shelby, Bert of Ashland, Charles of Crestline and Gail of Cleveland; one daughter, Mrs. Joe McCurdy, of Cleveland, and a sister, Mrs. Sophia Hills of Canada.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Monday at the Dick and Dye funeral home here, with Rev. G. Nicola, rector of Grace Episcopal church, Mansfield, officiating. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

PEACE APPEAL POWERFUL HELP, MONARCH SAYS

Speech Ending Parliament Session Expresses Hope for 'New Era' Opening.

(By United Press)

LONDON — King George, in a message to parliament today, praised President Roosevelt's action in the Czechoslovak crisis as a powerful aid to the cause of peace and expressed hope that with the passing of the crisis a new era might have been opened in Europe.

The message, in which the king prorogued or ended the present session of parliament in favor of the new session which starts next Tuesday, was read in the house of lords by the lord high chancellor, Lord Maugham, at a joint session.

The king said:

"The cause of peace was powerfully aided by the timely action of the president of the United States of America.

'Deeply Thankful.'

"The desire of all peoples not to be drawn into war with one another is manifest and significant, and everywhere men and women share with me, I am convinced, a feeling of deep thankfulness that the imminent peril was thus averted.

"I pray that with the passing of this peril a new era may have opened for Europe."

Speaking of the settlement which was reached at Munich, the king said:

"The settlement thus arrived at was accepted with a dignity that has earned general admiration by the government and people of Czechoslovakia."

The king referred to the government's decision to make effective the British-Italian friendship agreement, as a prerequisite of which Great Britain will recognize Italy's conquest of Ethiopia. He expressed the cabinet's confidence that this action would further strengthen "the good relations already existing between Italy and this country."

Regarding Spain, the king said that the government had maintained efforts to make the non-intervention policy more effective. He welcomed the decision of the Spanish loyalist government to repatriate those foreigners who had been fighting for it and the decision of the nationalists "to dispense with a proportion of those on the other side."

FAIR ENOUGH!

America Needs No Help From Hitler or Agents To Combat Bolshevism

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Hitler speaks again, this time through the person of one Josef Terboven, the governor of the Rineland province, and his message is an order to other nations to abolish freedom of expression of speech or accept the fate of Czechoslovakia. Already he had claimed the right to censor the ballot in Great Britain to the extent of blacklisting British statesmen not amenable to him. Now, through Terboven, Holland and Luxembourg are warned to suppress newspaper comment which is considered offensive to the Reich.

Thus, by degrees, Hitler and Germany proceed to impose on the rest of the world not only an imitation of the Nazi form of government but supervision by Berlin of the thought and expression of their peoples. This is not a far-fetched interpretation of the German attitude. Censorship of the press and of speech is Naziism, and if other nations must adopt suppression as a measure of self-preservation Hitler steps beyond his borders to edit the rights of free citizens of other nations.

Herr Terboven does not hamper himself with pretense but plainly boasts that Hitler took Czechoslovakia at the point of the gun, and in warning Holland and Luxembourg of the fate which they invite by maintaining their domestic liberties conveys a message to Americans as well. It is only consistent to suppose that as the liberties of the people are abolished in other lands in an ever-widening extension of the terror, as each new submission to the threat of overwhelming war increases the power of Adolf Hitler, the American people presently will find themselves under his admonition.

Through his press he has, in fact, already threatened to take an unpleasant interest in the affairs of the people who wear their hats in the house, put their feet on the table and spit chewing gum at the walls. Through his anti-American bunds he has entered the domestic politics of the United States and begun a campaign to abolish tolerance and human rights just around the edges as a starter.

There are educated Americans so gullible and supercilious that they cannot perceive the source from which they are being incited or understand that even to consider the political degradation of any group of Americans is to serve a foreign conspirator against the liberties which they cherish for themselves.

This country needs no assistance from Hitler or agents of Hitler who mock hospitality and our laws of naturalization to defend it from bolshevism. The United States has made a better job of repelling bolshevism than of scotching the reptilian approach of that other terror which is worse, if possible, than the terror which the anti-American bunds would kindly save us from at the sacrifice of American freedom.

And it is distinctly contrary to the character of the Nazi nation to perform any helpful service for any other country except with the sinister motive or moral political and military subjugation.

Yet Americans who sincerely believe in and have fought for the liberties of the constitution are seduced by alien conspirators toward an unformed, unreasoned belief that the constitution would be improved by some clause restricting its benefits to those whom they happen to like.

Communism now appears to be subsiding as a power and threat. The press of the last few years, and particularly of the last three months, suggests that the Russians didn't have it in them, after all, to make good with their state. But now Naziism is a new aggressor here, with the same conspiratorial, cynical and foully unmoral lessons which the Nazis learned from the parent vice of their own depravity, Bolshevism itself.

This country may apply to itself every warning from Hitler to any free land to placate the monster by the flattery of imitation or suffer the fate of Czechoslovakia.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Movie people with boats are, by large, all in the same boat. And it's a very nice, if expensive, vehicle.

To own a boat means, among other things, that the sailor in grease-paint has arrived. It means, socially and financially, he is "in." He has to be in, financially, or he couldn't own a boat. He usually gets in, socially, as soon as he does own one. Boats are such nice places to spend week-ends and holidays. The boat-owner finds that out, unless he's cagey, very soon after the downpayment. He finds that he has friends he never knew he had.

Owning a boat for show purposes is practically passe, however. The people who have yachts—schooners and yawls and ketches—support them because they like them.

Errol Flynn, naturally, would have to have a boat, if only to justify his biography. What's life to Flynn without adventures?

When he came to Hollywood he didn't know he'd have one, but here he is with that 75-foot schooner Sirocco and crew of five. It's his pet.

JOHN FORD, the director, has a boat too. No show, although the Araner is a slick vessel. Ford and his family spend vacations aboard, cruising. Ford and Dudley Nichols whipped up the script of "The Informer" aboard it. He's a good sailor.

Jimmy Cagney's boat, the Martha, is an old-timer. Thirty-five years old, it's a 64-foot schooner. Jimmy used to suffer from seasickness but got over it. After all, a fellow who owns a boat can't put up with seasickness The Martha is his hide-out. He can catch up on sleep there.

Flynn and Cagney and Ford and most of the others are catch-as-catch-can sailors when it comes to costuming. They wear old clothes, or white ducks, and jersey sweaters.

Not so Dick Powell. Dick dresses the part like the musical comedy star he is. When Dick boards the 48-foot power cruiser Eroica he is usually in uniform, gold braid, brass buttons and all the trimmings. I imagine Dick is surprised every time he gets aboard. He didn't want a boat, at first. He and Joan Blondell both got terribly seasick when they were boat-shopping. They didn't last the trial cruise. They thought the boat was very nice, oh yes, but if the salesman didn't mind would he tack in toward shore—and quick! Well, Dick got over it, and Joan has acquired a new set of sea-legs.

ALLEN JENKINS' boat isn't in the social register—not quite. He built it himself. For four years it rested, being worked on, in the Jenkins garage. At least one end of it did At 18 feet, it stuck out a bit. Jenkins doesn't aim at world cruises He skits around pretty close to shore. The name of the midget craft, incidentally, is the Normandie!

Preston Foster's Zoa II has a real sailor in charge. Name's Preston Foster. Preston's always painting it up when he isn't sailing it. Donald Crisp's Zahma is one of the biggest—114-foot schooner. Crisp won't play unless he can play far. At least a week or it's no go. No big brave sails across to Catalina for him. He's got master's papers.

But when you go over the list of sailors in greasepaint I guess it's Buck Jones who takes the prize. It's funny, Buck being a cowboy star and all, but Buck owns and uses not only the yacht Sartartia but his own plane besides. That's flying high, socially, professionally, or just for pleasure.

She won a rating of "superior," the highest possible rating, at the High school competitions at Oberlin, in 1938. She graduates from Mansfield High in January.

Precepts For Happy Marriages

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

This morning's mail brought a letter from a woman who said she's utterly tired of the word "hard-boiled." People delight in telling you that this is an unromantic age, but people continue to fall in love and marry—young, old, and middle-aged.

It's an age of machinery, the hard-boiled declare, and machines don't foster romance. Also, it's an age full of fear, and people are much too busy worrying about jobs and pay cuts and overdue bills, to have any zest for romantic experiences. Love, according to these realists, has been pretty much crowded off the stage of life.

We'll agree that most of us are hard up, that we have our troubles, big and little. But that doesn't alter the way human creatures are made. Quite as much as ever, our hearts still need love. Unconsciously, we still demand romance—and we manage to capture it.

Don't let anyone persuade you that the world has become so hard and bloodless that delightful, romantic, storybook things don't happen any more. All you have to do, to discover real romance is to read the daily papers.

In Clifton Springs, New York, some weeks ago, a number of romantic old persons, who had been married half a century or more, gave precepts for married happiness. There were fifteen couples, old warriors of life, still romantically happy. They got together for a dinner and told how beautiful life had been. Most of the precepts given on how to be happy, though married, consisted of "give and take;" "bear and forbear;" the case of "neither being boss," and, above all, "stick to the promises you made at the altar." Pretty romantic, eh what?

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, November 5.

Rather difficult and provoking conditions are noted in this day's auguries, with rash, impulsive and quarrelsome behavior precipitating very disagreeable reactions and inciting spite, malice and bitter enmities. To wrest any constructive results and satisfaction from this tumultuous and distressing state of affairs, calmness, discretion and forced good nature are required.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves precipitated into a year of inharmony, friction, disaster and general futility and turmoil, unless a definite resolve be put in execution to use self-restraint, good judgment and even an enforced amiability in the most provoking and challenging situations. Otherwise, there will be powerful enmity, spite, scandal and regret to block accomplishment.

A child born on this day may be studious, deep, talented and practical, but its tendency to impetuosity, strife, violence and recklessness may prove a defeating factor in its success, causing enmity and hostility.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Why! You double-crossing, little—" I hung up the receiver upon her stream of sordid epithets. and sank back against the back of the chair, feeling decidedly ill.

Same Woman.

"Was it that awful woman from the restaurant, Auntie Madge?" she whispered quickly, taking advantage of the nurse's absence from the room. But even as I nodded assent, Miss Whitlock came back, bearing in her hand a small glass which held a cloudy liquid.

"Drink this at once!" she said in a voice that brooked no chance of disobedience. "That's fine," as I meekly quaffed the contents of the glass. "Now lean back against your niece and rest a bit. Then pull yourself together. You'll be all right in a minute or two."

"I'm all right now", I said a minute or two later when the draught had begun to iron out my tired nerves.

"I fancy you are," the nurse said, "but it wont hurt you to rest a few minutes longer."

"I mustn't," I said, sitting erect. "I must get my husband on the telephone at once."

Mary Will Phone.

"Suppose I make an amendment," Mary said. "I'll get that specialist's office on the telephone, talk to the girl, find out if Uncle Dickey is still there and get him on the wire. Then I'll hand the mike over to you for the special broadcast. Okay?"

"That will be wonderful, Mary," I told her. She took her arms from around me and settled me back comfortably in the big chair.

"Do you happen to know the telephone number?" she asked as she took up the telephone directory.

I gave it to her immediately, and, putting the book down, she took off the receiver and gave the specialist's number to the hotel operator. Then I listened tensely to that most tantalizing of all things a one-sided telephone conversation.

"Is this the office of Dr. T——?

"Can you tell me if Mr. Richard Graham is there?

Have Already Gone.

"No, he hasn't an appointment, but he is there with a nephew of his who has. The name is Morton, Henry Morton. The appointment was for eleven o'clock. Yes, I'll wait. What is that? They've gone? Thank you so much Good day."

She put back the receiver and turned a perturbed face to me.

"They left about five minutes ago," she said. "Was it so terribly important, Auntie Madge?"

"The woman said it was almost a matter of life and death,' I replied through stiff lips, for the menacing aura of the mysterious woman was beginning to affect me.

"Well!" Mary said practically. "Even if you'd given that old devil the doctor's telephone number, she wouldn't have been able to catch Uncle Dicky, so you come out on top of the heap after all. You've done your best to find him, and you've probably saved Uncle Dicky's reputation at the specialist's office. It wouldn't do any nice gent any good to have that old harridan trying to find him."

Nurse Not There.

I looked around uneasily, but I need not have feared an auditor. Miss Whitlock, tactful as always, had gone into her own room and closed the door. Mary followed my look, and gave me a reproachful one in answer.

"Don't you know me better than to think I'd spring a spiel like that with a listener around?" she asked. "But you'd better lean back and take another rest cure. We can't do a thing but twiddle our fingers and hope that Uncle Dicky will come back here with the boys."

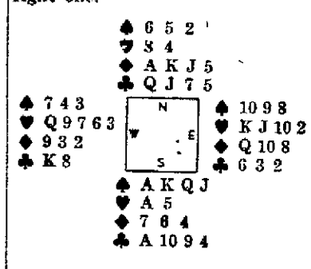
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

NOBODY IS PERFECT

On some deals all four players "pull boners." Both members of the strong side may make bids which are not quite the soundest available, thus landing them in the wrong contract. Then the weak side may get busy and botch up the defense, so that the wrong contract proves just as good as the right one.



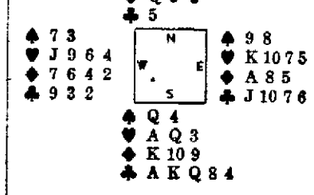
(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable)

South bid 1-Spade on this deal and North 2-Diamonds. South then went to 2-No Trump and North to 3-No Trump. Both partners should have bid clubs on their second turns, which would have resulted in a five club contract.

The heart 6 was led by West against the No Trump and East won with the 10. He returned the heart 2 to South's A. Declarer cashed his four high spades and the diamond K. His next play was the finesse of the club Q which lost to West's K. West made the mistake of leading the heart Q, which East allowed to hold, and followed with a heart to East's K. East returned a club and South claimed the remainder of the tricks.

Both opponents made mistakes. East did not need to cover the 6 with the 10, as the 4 was played from dummy and the 6 was large enough to force the A, but since he did, West argued that the K should have been returned instead of the 2, or, realizing his error, tossed the K when he realized he had blocked the suit for West. East contended West should not have led the Q.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

What is the correct bidding on this deal?

Vegetable Dishes Good During Winter

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

GOOD vegetable dishes and well-done macaroni and other flour pastes add much to a winter meal and eke out a skimpy meat course.

Tomato casserole is an excellent dish, splendid for dinner and an ideal main course for lunch or supper. Two cups canned or fresh tomatoes, one-half teaspoon prepared mustard, teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon pepper, two cups bread, one-half cup milk will serve six. Strain tomatoes and heat slowly. Break bread in small pieces and add milk, salt, pepper and mustard. Place in greased baking dish and add the scalded tomatoes. Dot generously with butter and bake in moderate oven for about 20 minutes.

Stuffed cabbage, another swell vegetable dish, calls for one hard head of cabbage, two cups cooked diced ham, two cups cooked rice, one egg, one-eighth teaspoon each mace and poultry dressing, t ablespoon lemon juice, two tablespoons melted butter and salt and pepper. Combine the diced ham with the cooked rice, add slightly beaten egg, salt, pepper, mace, poultry seasoning, lemon juice and melted butter. Mix well. Cut off top of cabbage and scoop out to a large pocket and fill with this mixture, three-quarters full. Put cabbage top on. Tie cabbage in moistened sheet of cooking paper. Steam for one hour. Serve with chopped parsley.

Sweet Potato Puff.

Sweet potato puff owes much of its tastiness to tangy spices. Ingredients include four medium sweet potatoes, two tablespoons cream, pinch of salt, two tablespoons brown sugar, one-quarter teaspoon nutmeg, one-eighth teaspoon cloves, 16 marshmallows. Boil and mash potatoes. Add cream, sugar, salt and spices. Whip till fluffy. Pile into buttered baking dish and top off with marshmallows. Bake in moderate oven until marshmallows are puffy and brown.

Spaghetti a l'Asta is the name of a novel dish that is worth all the time and effort expended on it. Ingredients call for one clove garlic, two and one-half cups canned tomatoes, two teaspoons celery salt, one teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon ginger, ⅛ teaspoon thyme, one teaspoon cloves, dash of cayenne, one large chopped onion, one cup beef consomme, one tablespoon butter, one-cup cut-up chicken livers, one and one-half teaspoons flour, one cup mushrooms, spaghetti and parmesan cheese. Mash the garlic clove in a good-sized saucepan, and add the tomatoes and the celery salt, the sugar, cinnamon, cloves, ginger, thyme, cayenne and the onion. Allow to simmer for 30 minutes. While this is cooking, melt the butter in a skillet and saute the chicken livers in this. Then add the flour and mushrooms. Pour the contents of the skillet in with the tomato sauce and simmer 15 minutes longer. Mix thoroughly with the spaghetti, which has been cooked until tender in four quarts of water, to which a tablespoon of salt has been added. Serve with parmesan cheese.

Birth Announcements Should Conform To Accepted Custom

AP Feature Service Writer.

Pink is for girls and blue for boys.

That's an old baby custom.

Still, if mother prefers pink for her boy's clothes or blue for her girl's, there's no reason she should not get it. There's, no reason, either, if she has furnished her nursery in blue and a baby daughter arrives, that she should not continue her chosen color scheme.

A number of questions arise when the new baby comes. Announcements for one thing.

A Combination Card.

The generally-accepted announcement is the combination of Mr. and Mrs. card and the baby card.

The Mr. and Mrs. card, which is usually slightly larger than the average Mrs. card, bears the names of both parents in the center. In the lower right-hand corner may be engraved the street, town and state address.

On the baby's card, which is about half the size of the Mr. and Mrs. Card, usually appears the baby's name—in the center. In the lower right corner is engraved the date of birth. No other information goes on the card.

The two cards usually are tied together by a bow of white, blue or pink ribbon, so that both the parents' and the baby's name show.

Many baby cards having blank spaces in which the baby's name and birth date may be written are now on the market. Although their use is frowned on by many of the so-called socially correct, there is no reason why they may not be used, since doing so often saves time lost in putting through an engraving order.

Under ordinary circumstances announcements are usually sent from Mr. and Mrs. to Mr. and Mrs.

For The Newspaper.

It is perfectly proper for the parents of the new baby to send an announcement to the society editor of the local newspaper. The editor will use it or not, as he sees fit.

Information sent to a newspaper should be brief and to the point. It may read something like this: "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of 100 Any Street are the parents of a son, John, jr., born Saturday, September 10, at the Greencastle Hospital in this city. The baby is the couple's first child. Mrs. Smith is the former Jane Debutante, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Debutante of 22 Holiday Street."

Although local custom sometimes decrees otherwise, it is generally considerd proper to send birth announcement only to intimate friends of the parents. A small gift is almost mandatory upon reception of an announcement. It should be sent as soon as possible—and may be followed by a visit to the baby and mother when the two are able to receive visitors.

White Hair Requires Attention

By MME. QUI VIVE

Women react differently to the appearance of white threads in the glorious halo. Some realize that their coming is like the extra candles on the birthday cake, bound to arrive sooner or later.

Others fly into a state of rebellion. They flirt with the idea of dyeing. The idea takes root. The time comes when they do a presto change act. If the coloring process is a home treatment, the results may be happy or otherwise, usually otherwise. If they seek the services of a capable, trained operator, no harm is done. But they are in for a long term of servitude to a coloring agent. There's always the touch up in the offing.

A lot is to be learned about dyes and bleaches; it stands to reason that only professionals have the necessary information to produce a synthetic color that looks natural.

A hair shaft whitens because the pigment has disappeared. The shaft is colorles; when the tiny cells within cease to exist it is white. What becomes of these cells, why they suddenly give up the ghost, nobody knows The shaft whitens first at the root. It is as if the coloring matter had suddenly been cut off. The little thread may be half white, half natural tone.

Prematurely grey hair is usually a family inheritance, not one that is received gratefully. It may be beautifully becoming to a young face, but it does class the victim with women older than herself. It may be admired, raved over, but that doesn't make it any easier to bear.

Silvered locks require fastidious attention. Only a bland white soap should be used, and the soap must be melted.

No white-headed lady can afford to have her crown look birdsnesty. The coiffure must be wide-waved, correctly arranged, elegant, dignified.

My Neighbor Says:

Cuttings of lantana may be made by planting root cuttings in sand. When roots have developed, plant in good soil.

To give a better flavor to nuts heat them for five minutes in a moderate oven. Such heating is especially advisable in the Winter time when nuts are likely to be stale.

A table on rollers is a great aid to kitchen convenience. Placed near the refrigerator it is handy for quick service. It may also be wheeled to other parts of the kitchen and even into other rooms. Rollers may be placed on tables which do not have them.

PRESIDENT GOES ON AIR TONIGHT AS CAMPAIGNER

Roosevelt Leads New Dealers in Drive to Retain Hold on Congress.

(By Associated Press)

Democratic efforts to retain overwhelming majorities in congress and in governors' chairs will reach their high point tonight in President Roosevelt's only address of the fall campaign.

Although he will speak primarily in behalf of New York's Democratic state ticket, he is expected to touch on national subjects as well. His talk will be broadcast from 7:30 to 8 p. m., by the CBS, Mutual and NBC "blue" networks.

Among the listeners undoubtedly will be high Republican officials, eager to gather material for quick rebuttals. One of them may be former President Hoover, who will speak tomorrow night at Spokane, Wash.

From Senator to Sheriff.

But there will be hundreds of other orators of all parties who will make their final arguments in bunting-decorated halls during the week-end. From senator to sheriff, nearly every candidate will try one more appeal to his constituents.

On Tuesday, millions of voters in 47 states will choose 35 senators, 432 house members, 32 governors and a host of state and county officials. Maine voted in September, electing a Republican governor and three Republican representatives.

A survey by the Associated Press indicated that about 40,000,000 citizens would cast secret ballots. This would set a record for an "off-year" election, but would be 5,500,000 below the high mark of the 1936 presidential race.

The 40,000,000 total would represent 73.9 per cent of the estimated eligible vote, which the survey reported to be 54,324,930.

In such key states as New York, Pennsylvania and California, where the contests have been growing more heated each day, the turnout may approach the 1936 figures.

The senate campaign expenditures committee was working up to the eleventh hour in its investigation of complaints about improper campaign tactics.

It upheld Republican charges that Democratic rally tickets had been sold to WPA employes in Pennsylvania, that certain WPA truck drivers in the state had been solicited for $100 contributions to the Democratic campaign, and that "numerous" Pennsylvania WPA workers were ordered to change their registration from Republican to Democratic.

Speaks In City

Miss Mallie Cook, above, an alumna of the National Orphan's home at Tiffin, will be guest speaker at a district meeting of the Junior Order United American Mechanics, Nov. 10 at Eagles hall. Miss Cook will use as her subject, "What the Home Has Meant to Me in 17 Years of My Life". Appearing here with her will be Mr. R. S. Cox of Millersburg, state manager of the Beneficiary Degree of the order, and at the present time is in charge of the education and promotion activities in Ohio.

3 LOOT BANK

Gunmen Menace 13, Flee With $2,500 Near Columbus.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Three masked gunmen held up 13 persons in the Grandview branch of the Ohio National bank at noon today and escaped with approximately $2,500.

Ordering Manager Willard Young to open the vault, one of the men said, "We know you can open the vault. We are the same bandits who held up the Clintonville office."

The banking company's Clintonville branch was held up during the summer and last February its Hilltop branch was robbed.

Besides Young, four other employes and eight customers were in the bank when the robbers entered.

ASKS $15,000

ASHLAND—In a suit brought in common pleas court against E. G Buchsieb, Inc., Floyd C. Cates asks damages of $15,000 for injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Cates' suit claims that he was permanently injured in a collision in which the automobile in which he was riding with James Robertson was struck by a truck operated by Henry Coey, employe of the defendant. The collision happened on May 18, 1937, on the Loudonville-Perrysville road, a quarter mile west of Loudonville. Coey is charged with negligence.

5 POWERS BACK U. S. STAND ON JAP DEMANDS

Claims to Economic, Political Interest in China Meet Blunt Rejection.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The United States today bluntly rejected Japan's claims to exclusive economic and political interests in China.

The American position, it was learned, is backed up by five other powers — Britain, France, the Netherlands, Belgium and Portugal.

An economic boycott of Nippon, it became increasingly evident, looms as the probably reprisal of the powers unless Japan retreats from its announced intention of forever closing the Chinese "open door."

It was reported on good authority today, but without official confirmation at the state department, that the United States is canvassing the interested European powers with a view to enlisting their cooperation in an economic "quarantine" of Japan.

Sound Out Sentiment.

American embassies and legations in Britain, France, the Netherlands, Belgium and Portugal, it was reported, have unofficialy approached these governments to determine whether they would join the United States in denouncing their commercial treaties with Nippon.

The united stand of America and the other powers against Japan's invasion of China and attempts to drive the white man from the Asiatic continent, was revealed in a hitherto unpublished memorandum from Norman H. Davis, head of the American delegation to the nine-power conference at Brussels last year, to Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

The memorandum declared the powers are agreed "that the settlement ultimately arrived at (in the Sino-Japanese conflict) must be consistent with the principles of the nine-power treaty and satisfactory to the conference powers."

The nine-power pact, which was also signed by Japan, guarantees the territorial integrity of China and the equal opportunity of the signatory countries to trade expansion in China. The pact was signed in Washington in 1922.

The memorandum was made public today by the state department on the heels of the declaration by Japan of an Asiatic "Monroe doctrine" in which Japan, alone, would dominate China to the exclusion of the rest of the world.

CHANGE TO RAIN COLDER FORECAST

Indian Summer to End at Least Temporarily, Weatherman Says.

The weatherman brought out his rain prediction again today and just for good measure, he forecast that colder weather Saturday will end Indian summer, at least temporarily.

Mild temperatures continued today as clear skies made the weatherman's forecast of rain go astray for the fourth consecutive day.

But it will rain tonight and Saturday, he repeated, and colder weather will come with the rain.

The temperature at noon today was 67, and yesterday's high was 73.

START BUILDING

GALION—By the end of the year it is expected that a new foundry for the E M. Freese and Company, will be completed in Galion. The building permit which has been issued by Service Director Jay F. Nichols stipulates a building cost of $15,000.

County Revenue For Year $30,000 Above Estimates

Richland county has collected $30,000 more than was anticipated so far this year, but county commissioners expected little trouble in finding places to use the money, they said today.

Commissioners placed the surplus in a special supplementary fund and immediately made additional appropriations from it to erase deficits in other funds.

The largest single appropriation, or $4,500, went to the county fund for care of tuberculosis patients which will show a huge deficit this year.

Other appropriations included $2,500 for the department of aid to dependent children, $300 for aid to the blind, and $2,000 for increase in salaries of deputies in a number of county offices.

Deputy Auditor Arthur S. Beck said most of the additional funds came from increased tax collections and a boost in receipts in the office of Clerk of Courts Fred R. Zellner due to the new automobile certificate of title law which greatly increased the fee for transferring title to motor vehicles. The certificates are issued by the county clerk.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Count Jules Henri De Sibour, 65, identified in Washington for two generations, died today following a hernia operation. He was a descendant of Louis XI, king of France, and was an architect. Born in Paris, the count came to the United States at an early age and had been living in the capital since 1901.

TELLS OF 'RED RULE' IN STRIKE

Elyrian Tells Dies Committee Communist Halted Mails in Warren Trouble.

mittee, the chairman announced, would be called to testify on Communist activities in at least 53 organizations in this country which "front" for the cause of Moscow.

5. Herzog offered testimony that dynamite was kept in the CIO's headquarters at Warren. This, he said, was obtained by the CIO at Oil City, Pa. Nitro-glycerine was obtained later, he said, and the strikers were armed with rifles, shotguns, baseball bats, iron pipe and other weapons.

6. Federal officials and CIO leaders were accused by Herzog of being responsible for Gov. Martin L. Davey's action in sending the National Guard to Warren. It was this move by Davey that later embroiled him in a bitter dispute with John L. Lewis who was mentioned by Herzog in connection with the labor warfare at Warren.

In his testimony on Communist activity among Ohio public school teachers, Herzog said the "school" to instruct the teachers in Communism was operated in Toledo, O., by Dorothy Cannon, youth organizer for the "Young Pioneers," described as a "Communist front" organization.

"Teachers attending this school are instructed how to teach Communism in the public schools. Communist primers for first and second grade pupils are supplied the teachers who are instructed to distribute them as widely as possible and to teach from them," Herzog said.

"They are told to go to pupils homes after school and instruct the children where the parents will allow it," he added.

Asked by Mosier to produce copies of the primers, Herzog said he would do so when a subcommittee headed by Dies begins hearings in Cleveland after Armistice day. He explained that he had turned his copies of the primers over to the state commander of the American Legion for use in public speeches and had not received them back when called by the Dies committee.

Lists 'Prominent Reds.'

Herzog next began to name a list of persons whom he described as prominent Communists in Ohio. These included:

Williamson, the state secretary, John Meldon and Frank Rogers of Cleveland, assistants to Williamson; John "Shorty" Steuben and Robert Burke of Youngstown, Communist party organizers; James Keller of Akron, Communist party organizer among rubber workers; and Phil Bart, formerly of Cleveland, who, the witness testified, has "a police record and is 'hot' and therefore serves as sort of a roving ambassador moving to wherever there is trouble."

Herzog said that he had attended meetings of the Communist party in approximately 50 per cent of Ohio's counties. He asserted that the strength of the Communist party is centered in Ohio industrial cities, including Cleveland, Toledo, Niles, Warren, Youngstown and Cincinnati.

SENIOR B CLASS OFFICERS REIGN AT HOMECOMING

Preside as Master, Mistress of Ceremonies for Senior High Celebration Today.

Marjorie Mahon and Harold Duda, both 12-B class officers, reign today as master and mistress of ceremonies at Senior high school's annual homecoming celebration.

The celebration, a carnival affair, is known as "Red and White Day," and replaces the "Alums Day" parade held in past years.

Opening at 1 p. m. with a variety program in the auditorium, the "Red and White Day" observance will continue through this evening with a costume dance in the gymnasium, sideshows and concessions.

The master and mistress of ceremonies were chosen from a group of six boys and six girls by popular vote of the student body, and were presented to the students this afternoon. They were introduced by Robert Meese, chairman of the program. Duda is president of the 12-B class and Miss Mahon is chairman of the finance committee.

Grand March Tonight.

Tonight's program will get underway with a grand march at 8:30 p. m. Only students in costume will be allowed to take part in the march. Prizes totaling $25 in cash will be awarded for the best costumes. Music will be furnished by Harold Duda and his orchestra.

The prizes are: most elaborate costume (girl), $3; best dressed man, $2; funniest couple, $4; most horrifying costume, $1.50; best native costume of some foreign country, $2; best representation of any comic page character, $2; best representation a historical or movie character, $2; most unique costume, $3. Prize money was donated by various clubs at the school.

Judging will be done by W. L. Miller, superintendent of schools, H. W. Arlin and W. C. Meade of the school board, and Miss Margaret West and Miss Violet Richardson of the Y. W. C. A.

Throughout the evening at least 12 sideshows will be held in the classrooms by various clubs, and ice cream and soft drinks will be sold by the Social Science Service clubs. Proceeds from the concessions will be used to pay for decorations.

The name of the celebration, "Red and White Day," was submitted by John Columbus, and will be used in future homecomings. Columbus will be awarded two theater passes for submitting the best name.

Officers for the school's newly organized wrestling club were chosen at an election held during the week. They are Frederick Gordon, president; Eugene Reed, vice president; Frank Swartz, secretary, and Charles Wolfe, Richard Kalstein and Robert Pugh, program committee.

Other members of the club are Sheldin Perrine, David Elrod, Henry Winbigler and James Pfahler. Floyd Million, history teacher at the school, is adviser of the group.

SEASONABLE FOODS GET MOST OF ATTENTION AT MARKETS NOW

While strawberries and other out-of-season delicacies are found in Mansfield markets, it is sweet potatoes, cranberries, oysters and other seasonable food items that get the most attention from housewives.

The seasonable foods are popular because they apparently fit in well with mid-fall menus.

There are several kinds of squash, pumpkins for pies and both canned and fresh bulk mincemeat; Italian chestnuts for dressing, and crisp celery which seems a natural companion for fall menus, for in the years before refrigerated transportation celery was strictly a late fall vegetable.

It is also the season for boiled or baked dinners and for these there are new parsnips, turnips, carrots, cabbage and dry onions.

For cooked green vegetables there are egg plant, oyster plant, spinach, okra, green beans and kale, and for fresh salad vegetables there is escarole, endive, French endive, savoy cabbage, and Chinese cabbage.

While grapefruit still has a tendency to be hard, the Texas seedless, which have been coming in, are becoming better in quality as the season grows older. Then there are both Florida and California oranges, and tangerines made their appearance this week. Cantaloupes may still be had as well as honeydew melons and a few New York concord grapes will be offered on Saturday.

Students Warned Against Use of Marijuana Weed

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan.—(INS)—Convinced that marijuana is the worst of all narcotics, Chief of Police Lester Richardson is conducting a lecture tour of schools and churches to warn young people against the use of the drug.

"In marijuana I recognize the greatest curse confronting the nation," he says. "High school and college boys and girls in small towns and rural communities, as well as in cities, are becoming addicts and insanity is increasing as a result of the growing use of the weed.

"Although it may not be as habit forming as opium, heroine, morphine and cocaine, it is much more harmful to mind and body when used to excess and causes addicts to commit the worst of crimes."
